MANY AWAIT OLD MIRACLE IN NEW GUISE

Followers Predict Evangelist Will Arise from Dead Just Like Lazarus

CROWDS WATCH BEACH

Advent of Woman Pastor, Thought Dead, Forecast By Members of Church

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—Preparations for the "resurrection" of Sunday of Aimee Semple McPherson, missing evangelist, were made today by many of her followers.

Hundreds of the revivalist's disciples believe she will arise from the sea tomorrow at the spot where she is believed to have disappeared last Tuesday, while swimming in the surf.

Thousands of them crowded to the beaches today and watched the apparently futile search for her body continue, and made plans to attend in droves tomorrow for the "return to life."

Police prepared to control the vast audience expected at the beach to witness the prophesied event.

May Be Like Lazarus

William Wallberg, former bodyguard of the missing woman, acting as spokesman for those who believe the miracle performed by Jesus when he raised Lazarus from the dead is about to be duplicated at groups of instant listeners at the beach.

"A miracle of God is at hand," he declared dramatically.

"Mark me, she will preach as one returning from the dead Sunday night."

Scores of the faithful nodded assent at the same time murmuring, "Amen! Amen!"

"All things are possible in this age, and we feel that she will come back, even as Lazarus came back," said Wallberg.

Search for Mrs. McPherson's body was directed today by Chief of Detectives Herman Cline, who believes the woman was drowned, despite rumors to the contrary.

Mental Fatigue Hinted

The theory that Mrs. McPherson had not met accidental death, but may be the victim of mental fatigue caused by over-zealous religious work, gained momentum today among investigators.

The evangelist, it was learned, had often declared she felt her mission in Los Angeles about finished, and recently announced her intention of carrying on her missionary work along the "open road."

That she was suffering from mental strain, and has disappeared to find relief from her religious responsibilities, was said to be a logical probability.

The Rev. John Marvin Dean, of Pasadena, will occupy the pulpit at Angeles Temple tomorrow night. He will be followed by Superior Judge Carlos Hardy.

Reasons For Support Of All Proposals At Wednesday's Election

The Register heartily supports ALL of the proposals to be voted on by the electors of the city of Santa Ana next Wednesday. Which may not be of much importance in itself, but is of vast importance because of the reasons for that support.

These reasons are that we believe, on our own judgment and on the judgment of practically every civic organization in the city, that the best material and moral interests of Santa Ana demand the things for which funds would be provided by the carrying of the proposed two bonds propositions and the two special tax levies.

If these proposals were not economically and socially and industrially sound they would not have the almost unanimous support of such civic organizations as the City Trustees, the Chamber of Commerce, the Realty Board, the Parent-Teacher Associations, the service clubs and nearly all the business and professional men of the city.

As to the sewer bonds, there is no room for argument. The outfall sewer must be extended or the State Board of Health will prohibit its use. There is no sense in speculating and theorizing and arguing about some other method of handling the sewage. With absolute authority of law, and under the advice of the State Engineering department, the State Board of Health has ordered the outfall sewer to be extended farther out into the ocean. Moreover, the city has been advised positively, by highest private engineering authority, that the extension plan is by far the most efficient and economical plan that could be adopted under existing conditions.

Public parks and playgrounds are almost as necessary to the highest welfare of a city as leaves are to the beauty, health and life of a tree. If it were not so, why would practically all cities—including thousands of cities smaller and poorer than Santa Ana—spend relatively large sums of money to provide and maintain them?

Santa Ana is as certain to have parks and playgrounds, some day, as that time shall go on. Why not secure them NOW, at much less cost than they can be secured for later on? And have them NOW, for us and our children, with most of the costs to be paid by the latter when they have grown up and become citizens and taxpayers? No, it would not be burdening our children with debt; it would be making a paying investment for them. Think that over. It is true.

A municipal band is a good thing for any city the size of Santa Ana. It is probably worth all it costs as a means of giving the city distinction, as a high-class advertisement. But it is worth infinitely more as a source of recreation and pleasure and a means of culture. Man does not live by bread alone.

Community advertising anywhere is a good thing. In Southern California it is a necessity for every town and city and county that would march with the procession of progress and prosperity. And the only right and equitable and economical way to raise an advertising fund is by general taxation.

COL. WILLIAMS IS ORDERED TO SAN FRANCISCO

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Col. Alexander Williams, sentenced on account of drunkenness to loss of four numbers on the marine corps colonels' promotion list, was today ordered to duty in charge of the western recruiting division of the corps at San Francisco. He replaces Col. Nelson P. Vulpe, U. S. M. C.

Colonel Williams probably will never become a general in the marine corps.

That was the opinion here today, after Secretary of the Navy William D. Clegg's approval of his demotion. Williams now goes to the 25th on the list of marine colonels. He is 43 years old and subject to retirement in about 15 years, while under him there are only about a half dozen other colonels.

At the present rate of advancement, he has suffered at least a year and a half setback.

The sentence, while comparatively mild, was deemed in service quarters a complete vindication of Gen. Smedley Butler, who brought the charges against Williams.

NEW DRY ORDER TO BE APPLIED IN CALIFORNIA

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Application of the executive order allowing the treasury department to appoint state, county and municipal officers as federal prohibition agents will be confined at present to California. The treasury department announced today.

Applying the order to the whole country has not been considered as yet and whether it will be extended eastward will be determined by the California test, the dry czar said.

"This is not the time to talk about state's rights so far as prohibition is concerned," Andrews said, discussing the order.

"When the people approved the 18th amendment to the constitution, they invaded the police powers of the various states.

"The people themselves decided the federal government should have the police power hitherto reserved by states, but made the federal jurisdiction concurrent.

"They forced us to use this police power but we must lean upon states to carry on their concurrent jurisdiction, leaving the government as little police work as possible."

Opponents of prohibition expect to challenge in the courts the right of President Coolidge to issue an executive order authorizing the employment of state officers as federal prohibition officers, Senator Bruce, Maryland, said today.

The veto probably will sue for an injunction forbidding the order to be put into effect, whenever an appointment is made in any state, Bruce said. This would be on the ground that the order constitutes an undue burden which the federal government is attempting to put on a state government.

There are many decisions that such burdens are illegal, he said. For instance, state officials are exempt from the federal income tax, on the "undue burden" ground, Bruce said.

Evangeline Booth Is Critically Ill

NEW YORK, May 22.—The condition of Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army, remained unchanged today. She is critically ill. ### DRY LEADS IN OREGON RACE FOR SENATOR

Stanfield Is Defeated by Steiwer, in Face of Incomplete Voting Returns

HANEY SLIGHTLY AHEAD

Pierce Wins from Woman Candidate in Democratic Battle on Governorship

(By United Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—Senator Robert N. Stanfield was trailing Col. Frederick Steiwer by 21,814 votes for the Republican senatorial nomination, according to fairly complete returns this afternoon from yesterday's primary election. The totals are: Steiwer, 46,206 Stanfield, 24,392.

Bert E. Haney, contending in the Democratic primary for the senatorial nomination, seems likely to win over Elton Watkins by a very narrow margin. Haney is now 694 votes ahead of his rival. His total is 12,268 and that of Watkins, 11,574.

In Multnomah county (Portland), Watkins ran ahead of Haney and the Haney lead represents his gain upstate.

(By United Press)

PORTLAND, Ore., May 22.—Frederick Steiwer, of Pendleton, is leading for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator in the primary election held yesterday, with a heavy margin of votes between him and Senator Robert N. Stanfield, his nearest opponent.

With a complete count from 300 of the 449 Multnomah county precincts and with incomplete returns from 449 of the 1315 upstate precincts, Steiwer had a total vote of 21,726, to 14,415 for Stanfield.

In the Democratic senatorial contest, Bert E. Haney was leading Elton Watkins by 43 votes. This is the closest contest of the election. The totals are: Haney, 696; Watkins, 553.

Steiwer Dry Candidate

Colonel Steiwer is an Anti-Saloon league candidate, while Senator Stanfield is an administration supporter.

Steiwer took the lead early in the counting in the "key counties" and continued to draw away from the seven other Republican candidates as reports from the rural districts came in.

Dry Oregon rejected the three anti-prohibition candidates without even giving them serious consideration. L. B. Sandblast, Portland attorney, running for the Republican senatorial nomination, made the best showing of those advocating modification of the Volstead act, and his vote was less than a third of that polled by Steiwer.

Governor Pierce Nominated

Mrs. Louise Palmer Weber, wet Democratic gubernatorial candidate, was badly beaten by Gov. Walter Pierce, incumbent. Pierce, an ardent dry, has a lead of over two to one.

Norman S. Richards, wet Republican, opposing Representative M. E. Crumpacker, was beaten almost six to one by the incumbent member of the house from the third congressional district.

L. L. Patterson apparently has won the Republican nomination for governor. On present returns, he polled a greater vote than the combined total of his two opponents, Jay H. Upton and William A. Carter.

Col. Alfred E. Clark, the other leading Republican senatorial candidate, was in third place.

REPUBLICANS SCORED FOR FAILURE OF FARM RELIEF

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—With farm relief legislation virtually dead, as far as the house is concerned, western farm bloc and Democratic leaders predicted today that the Republican party would be repudiated at the polls in November for defeating the $175,000,000 Haugen price-stabilization bill.

House leaders said that no further effort would be made by the lower body to enact any relief measure at this session.

Farm bloc members who supported the Haugen bill are pinning their hopes for action in the senate. They expressed confidence that the senate would accept the Norris amendment to the administration marketing bill, which is now pending in the senate. The Norris amendment is almost identical with the Haugen bill and an effort will be made to bring it up in the senate Monday.

"The defeat of the Haugen bill," Representative Dickinson, Iowa, Republican farm bloc leader, said, "will have a far-reaching effect from which the Republican party will suffer."

Ex-Dry Agent Is Convicted of Murdering Wife

BRIGHTON, Colo., May 22.—Virgil Massie, former special executive prohibition agent for Gov. C. J. Morley, must spend the rest of his life in the state penitentiary, following his conviction last night of murder for the death of his wife, Mrs. Katherine Rosenboom Massie.

The state accused Massie of poisoning his wife. The accused man alleged poison liquor was responsible for the death and said he would have met the same fate had he not had a strong constitution and had he not drunk only a small amount of the liquor.

ELECTION QUIZ COMMITTEE TO TOUR COUNTRY

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—The senate primary campaign investigating committee probably will tour the country for a personal survey of conditions, touching first Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Senator William H. King, Democrat, Utah, announced today he would recommend such procedure in an effort to ascertain "if the foundations of the electorate are being polluted."

Indications are that the program will be as follows:

The committee will meet here around June 1 to organize.

It will be suggested that the committee first go to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to hear the managers of the various candidates there, inspect books and probably bank accounts and subpoena any documents it may desire. Evidence will be sought to ascertain how much money was spent by each of the three candidates in the senatorial campaign there, William S. Vare, wet; George Wharton Pepper, incumbent, backed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and Gifford Pinchot, governor.

After the committee has exhausted its survey there, it probably will proceed to Chicago and hold hearings there on expenditures, particularly in the Republican senatorial contest between Frank L. Smith, chairman of the public utilities commission, and William B. McKinley, incumbent, who is said to be a millionaire.

The committee then will ascertain what other contests should be investigated and hearings are expected to continue intermittently throughout the summer, perhaps touching many additional cities.

Particular mention thus far has been given contests in Oregon, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

MAMMOTH GUN IS GIVEN TWO TESTS

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—"Big Eva," the government's mammoth railway gun, largest movable armament in the world, was fired twice in "proof tests" today.

The big cannon was fired from the lower reservation of Fort McArthur, near the residential district of Point Firmin.

The first shot was at maximum elevation, the projectile shooting more than 40,000 yards to sea. The second blast was from minimum elevation, and the missile ricocheted over the water for a mile or more.

Residents in the neighborhood felt echoes of the blast not unlike an earth tremor.

"Big Eva" is a 14-inch gun, brought here recently from Aberdeen, Md.

SWING-JOHNSON BILL PUT OVER TO NEXT SESSION BY COMMITTEE ON IRRIGATION

Congressmen Vote, 9 to 6, In Favor of Proposal by Arizona Member to Hold Up Canyon Measure

TIME TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—By a vote of 9 to 6, the house irrigation committee decided to postpone action on the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill until next session of congress.

The motion to defer action was made by Representative Hayden, Democrat, Arizona, and was supported by all Democrats on the committee except Representative Hill, Alabama, and two Republicans, Representative Leatherwood, Utah, and Allen, Illinois. Hill and Representative Sinnott, Republican, Oregon, were unable to attend the meeting.

The committee refused by a vote of 9 to 6 to agree to a substitute motion by Representative Swing, Republican, California, co-author of the bill that consideration of the measure be continued.

Hayden's motion was in the form of a resolution which follows:

Resolved, by the committee on irrigation and reclamation of the house of representatives:

That further consideration of H. R. 9826 (the Swing-Johnson bill) and all other bills relating to the development of the Colorado river shall be postponed without prejudice until the next session of congress.

An early vote on Hayden's motion was made possible by Representative Leatherwood, who withdrew certain amendments dealing with the power provisions of the bill.

After the meeting, Chairman Smith, Idaho, announced the committee would probably authorize appointment of a subcommittee to consider further the power phase of the measure.

In a statement after the meeting, Hayden said the committee's action was taken for the following reasons:

1.—Because of the certainty that even if the committee were to perfect the bill and report it to the house, there would be no opportunity to secure vote on it at this session of congress.

2.—The committee hopes that, within the next six months, it will be possible for Arizona, California and Nevada to reach an agreement regarding an equitable apportionment of the waters of the Colorado river, commissioners having been appointed by the three states to negotiate such an agreement.

3.—The committee also hopes that a treaty between the United States and Mexico for a division of the waters of the Rio Grande and the Colorado rivers can be negotiated during the recess of congress.

BRAVES DEATH IN CLIMBING TO TOP OF NORGE

(By United Press)

NOME, Alaska, May 22.—How he braved death when it became necessary to clamber along the top of the dirigible Norge during the transpolar flight, was revealed here today by Lt. Oscar Omdahl, member of the crew.

Lieutenant Omdahl said that, when the big craft arrived off Point Barrow, one of the valves stuck, necessitating a trip to the top of the gas bag for repairs. He agreed to go.

"I went out through the nose, taking care to see that I had line around my body attached to the guy rope running along the top of the bag," Omdahl related. "The motions of the Norge were very much the same as those of a ship at sea."

"Because of the wind and cold I had difficulty in keeping my balance and at one time slipped over the side of the bag, dangling there 6000 feet in the air until I was able to pull myself back by the rope."

"We were going 50 miles an hour through cold, fog and snow, but there was no ice on the top of the bag, as its composition and flexibility counteracted ice formation."

"The action of the committee is very disappointing, but not necessarily fatal," the ex-senator declared.

'ESCAPED' CONVICT FOUND WITHIN WALLS OF PRISON

(By United Press)

SAN QUENTIN, May 22.—Arthur Owen Davis, "escaped" convict murderer, was captured shortly before noon today.

He was found where prison authorities since the beginning of their search felt certain they would find him, within the prison walls.

Guards, making one of their two a day searches of the jute mill, suddenly shot out the call "We got him!"

They dragged Davis, missing since Tuesday afternoon, from a small shed known as the "cop house" and conducted him to the prison dungeon.

He had been without food since Tuesday noon, when he ate the usual mid-day meal. Davis disappeared Tuesday immediately after being checked in on return from lunch.

The "cop house" is a small shed within the jute mill, used for storage materials for the looms.

MASONIC LODGE PAYS TRIBUTE TO PATRIARCH

W. L. Wilhite, pioneer resident of Santa Ana, an early day minister in California and the only living charter member of Santa Ana Lodge, No. 241, F. and A. M., today was receiving, in his home, 621 Wellington avenue, the congratulations of friends and relatives on attainment of his ninety-second birthday anniversary. Wilhite has been a member of the Masonic order for 60 years.

Wilhite last night was a special guest at the meeting of No. 241, and was presented with a birthday cake, made at the instance of Dr. C. V. Doty, worshipful master. Presentation was made by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church, who expressed, on behalf of the membership, best wishes for continued good health for the honoree. The birthday cake later was cut and served to members present.

The pioneer is enjoying good health and, despite his years, is very active. He has full possession of all of his faculties. His hearing is good, as is also his eyesight. He can read ordinary newspaper print without the aid of glasses, but does not make a practice of doing this because he does not wish to over-tax his eyes.

Is Early Riser
He is up early every morning and it is his custom always to do a little hoeing in his garden, before having breakfast.

California, up early in the morning, temperance in all things and plenty of exercise—this is Wilhite's recommendation to those who would live to a ripe old age. He never has used tobacco or intoxicants.

Santa Ana was just a mustard patch when Wilhite arrived here, early in 1873, and decided to make his permanent home here. There were but two stores in the business community, one of which was operated by W. H. Spurgeon, founder of the city.

Although the Santa Ana man was an active clergyman prior to his arrival here, he immediately took up farming upon reaching Santa Ana and one of his first operations was the leasing of 140 acres of land, which later was known as the Dresser tract. It was bounded on the west by Main street, north by Seventeenth and south by Washington avenue, with the east boundary extending almost to Grand avenue. The first crop was castor beans and these were successfully grown, the crop being shipped to San Francisco, where the product was in great demand.

He figures today, he bought a 40-acre tract on North Main street and developed and farmed it for many years. The John Johnston home, on North Main street, just north of the Main street bridge, is a part of the original tract bought by Wilhite.

Helped Build Canal
Wilhite and two of his sons helped build the main canal of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company, valley men working for months in developing the lines that conveyed waters from the river to the fertile valley lands.

In addition to his farming duties in the early days, Wilhite served as an itinerant preacher and traveled by horseback to many sections of the Southland to bring the Gospel to residents of those days.

The pioneer was the father of seven daughters and three sons. Four of the daughters and two sons still are living. They are Sam, San Pedro; William, Elsinore; Mrs. Minerva Roeb, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ida Sterling, Florence, Calif.; Mrs. Lottie Hawthorne, Fillmore, and Mrs. Louisa Hartman, Los Angeles. He has more than 60 grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Stopping with the subject of this article at the present time is W. M. English, the son of an old-time friend of Wilhite. Wilhite came to Santa Ana from Ukiah, where he and the father of English were close friends.

PLANNING BODY OF SANTA ANA IS REORGANIZED

Reorganization of the Santa Ana Planning commission was completed yesterday afternoon at a session of the commission, held in the city hall.

Under the reorganization, the membership of the commission is composed of: C. S. H. Finley, J. C. Metzger, Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, Mrs. Clara Cushman, Stanley Goode, city councilman; Z. B. West Jr., city attorney; Nat H. Neff, city engineer, and Frank Purinton, mayor.

However, only seven of the group have voting power, the mayor voting only in case of a tie vote. Some propositions before the body, Finley was elected chairman and Metzger, secretary. The commission will meet at the city hall, Thursdays of each month, when persons having matters to present may do so.

At mid-day a sumptuous dinner was served. Plans were made for a picnic in July at Laguna Beach, when all members will share in presenting the picnic dinner. This will be on July 29, the next meeting of the club.

BENEFICIAL INFLUENCE OF PLAYGROUNDS IS CITED BY JUDGE OF JUVENILE COURT

Parks and playgrounds, and especially summer playgrounds, have a decidedly beneficial influence in reducing the number of juvenile delinquencies, according to Judge E. J. Marks, judge of department two, Orange county superior court.

Judge Marks today added his voice to those who favor the $250,000 bond issue, to be voted on Wednesday, for parks and equipment, and declared that a city of the size, wealth and beauty of Santa Ana should possess parks in which its residents can find recreation.

In a statement, issued today, Judge Marks said:

The cause and cure of juvenile delinquency is a subject that is interesting not only to the parents and those directly connected with the administration of the law governing the child's delinquency, but all of our citizens.

The leading criminologists of the country are met with the startling fact that the average age of the first term convict admitted to a penal institution has been reduced in the last 15 years from approximately 37 years to approximately 22 years. They have found no satisfactory reason for this condition and disagree as to its causes.

However, the fact is very apparent in our juvenile situation in Orange county that idleness and lack of employment among children during the summer vacation is a contributing cause to juvenile delinquency. Last year more cases were handled in the juvenile court during the three summer months than were handled in the preceding six months of the year. With the opening of school in September, the number of cases immediately began to decrease, which decrease was maintained until the Christmas vacation.

"Many cities have been attempting to solve the problem of idleness among children during the summer months by providing supervised playground facilities in the public parks. Our neighboring city of Pasadena claims that this activity has practically solved the question of juvenile delinquency during the summer months. The city of Los Angeles also claims very favorable results from its playground activities.

"The city of Anaheim opened its public park with supervised playgrounds for children during the early part of the summer of 1924. The records of this county show that juvenile delinquency during the first six months of 1925 were 7

EIGHT INJURED, ONE SERIOUSLY, IN AUTO CRASH

One man was seriously injured and seven others received lesser hurts as the result of a head-on automobile collision, last night on the state highway, one mile west of Sunset Beach.

The machines, which were badly damaged, were driven by J. E. McKenna, 63, 1227 Windsor boulevard, Los Angeles, and Frank Lindner, 308 Indianapolis street, Huntington Beach. An unknown motorist, driving at a high rate of speed, who cut around Lindner, was the direct cause of the collision, it is said. The road is particularly narrow at the point where the accident occurred, due to the fact that material, being used by the Southern Counties Gas company, are piled on one side of the highway, it is said. McKenna is the most seriously injured. He, with others in his party, were taken to St. Mary's hospital, Long Beach. He has a crushed chest and a possible skull fracture. In the McKenna machine were Mrs. McKenna, 60, who has an injured back; their daughter, Anna Katherine, 16, who has a cut on her throat; C. A. McKenna, a brother of the driver, who has cuts on his head, and Charles Hieglar, 11, who has minor cuts on the body. With Lindner were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Campbell of Huntington Beach. ## DEATH CAR DRIVER GETS OUT OF PEN

SAN QUENTIN, May 22.—Howard Hogan, wealthy Oakland youth who, driving while intoxicated, ran down and killed two men, today was released on parole from San Quentin prison. His sentence, from which he is conditionally released, was to have run from one to 10 years, the charge being manslaughter. He served 18 months. Hogan, 27, is the son of Hugh Hogan, Oakland capitalist.

John Hogan, 39, convicted of manslaughter, today was free by special action of the state prison board. Hogan, a Stockton resident, was convicted of killing a woman when he drove past a street car on the left, in violation of traffic laws. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison, of which he has served 22 months. He was not actually eligible for parole for 15 months more.

The special parole, granted last night by the prison board, takes effect immediately.

DEATH CELL IN NEVADA CHEATED

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., May 22.—The lethal gas chamber in the state prison yard at Carson City was cheated of early additional victims today when Sam Brown confessed to the murder of Martin Trujillo here Tuesday night and was sentenced to prison for from 10 years to life.

Brown's confession was followed by the release of Mrs. Josephine McCormick and two other men, held as possible accessories in the slaying. Officers said that, had Brown not admitted the murder, they planned to free him and charge Mrs. McCormick with the crime.

An attack upon Mrs. McCormick by Trujillo, which Brown resented, is said to have prompted the murder.

hundreds, none of it by forcing people to give it to him, but all of it from people who scramble for the privilege of paying it. Private employers will pay such sums, because they want to, may not the public pay them because it ought to? Nobody would expect the complaining workman to work for his $1800 if somebody else would pay him more. We do expect Justice Taft to work for $21,500 when he could easily get five times that sum. Is this not margin enough, for the honor of serving all of us instead of one of us?

ries of concerts arranged here for Sunday afternoon by D. C. Clafford, director of the two organizations.

A "request program" will be given in the evening, with Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, popular contralto singer of the city, participating. She will sing, "O, Divine Redeemer" (Gounod).

A medley of sacred numbers will be one of the features of the band program in the afternoon.

TO SELL RAILWAY

Herbert Lundahl, master in chancery, has been appointed to auction off the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad at Butte, Mont., to satisfy the claims of creditors. The road has 11,000 miles of track and is valued at $750,000,000. It has been in a receivership for some time.

SPEAKER WILL URGE SUPPORT OF PARK BONDS

George W. Braden, western representative of the National Parks and Playgrounds Association of America, will spend two days in Santa Ana next week, campaigning for the parks and equipment bond issue, which will be voted on Wednesday, May 26.

Braden, who is said to be one of the most forceful speakers on parks in the United States, will deliver his first address at a mass meeting to be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the Frances Willard junior high school, on North Main street. The Santa Ana Municipal band will furnish music for the occasion, rendering a concert prior to Braden's address. This meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Fay Spangler, president of the city Parent-Teacher association. Representatives of the various business and service clubs of the city will be present at this meeting.

On Tuesday, Braden will appear before the Santa Ana Rotary club and will deliver the principal speech. This meeting will be held at St. Ann's Inn.

In the evening, a mass meeting will be held at Birch park. The Santa Ana band also will furnish a musical program before the speaking begins.

These meetings will be under auspices of the city Parent-Teacher association. Arrangements are being made for a third speaking engagement for Braden on Monday.

MOTT SEES RELIEF IN PACIFIC STRAIN

HONOLULU, May 22.—Efforts to bring the nations of the Pacific to bonds of common understanding were not begun a day too soon, John R. Mott, leader of the Y.M.C.A. international movement told the United Press today.

The situation on the Pacific was grave when organizations like the Institute for Pacific Relations began work, Mott said. There still is considerable gravity but it can be dispelled, he said. Mott arrived on the steamer Niagara from a visit to the Orient, Australia and New Zealand.

"Everywhere I found a desire on the part of the people to get together for better understanding, but they want to meet in the open, not behind closed doors," he said. "The need of continuing and developing this work cannot be exaggerated."

U.C. TRACK SQUAD DEFEATS PRINCETON

PALMER STADIUM, Princeton, N. J., May 22.—Fifteen athletes from the University of California triumphed over the Princeton university track and field team by a score of 70 to 56 in a dual meet here this afternoon. The affair was considered an advance test for the I. C. A. A. A. classic at Cambridge next Saturday.

Barber, California, won the 100 in 10 seconds flat and the 220 in 21.4 seconds. Gerken of the Westerners was a dual winner in the shot and discus. Schwoboda, Talbot, Boyden, Hampden, Hill and Bondachu were other first place winners for the Golden Bears.

Captain Gates, star Princeton runner, was out of the meet with a pulled tendon.

Rotary Delegates Arrive In Hawaii

HONOLULU, May 22.—Delegations from the mainland and from the Antipodes are touring the island today and getting acquainted, prior to the conference of the Rotary International, which begins next week. A squadron of airplanes went out to meet the steamer President Cleveland, bringing the American delegation, and likewise greeted the Niagara, which brought Rotarians from Australia and islands of the South Seas.

ELECTION TALK IS FEATURE OF KNIGHTS' MEET

Various subjects relating to community welfare, including municipal improvements to be voted upon next Wednesday, juvenile welfare and other matters, were touched upon by speakers at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table, at St. Ann's Inn.

Explaining necessity for the various improvement projects to be voted on next Wednesday, Clyde C. Downing, past president of the table, asked that the knights join with other service clubs in getting out the vote on election day. Public support of the band, which would not only insure its existence, but tend to develop it into a high-class musical organization, would go far to advertise the city to visitors and home-seekers, Downing remarked.

He also stressed the desirability of creating a public publicity fund to be used by the chamber of commerce, under city supervision, for advertising Santa Ana and its attractions to tourists and home-seekers.

Dr. James Workman, chairman of the juvenile committee of the local table, reported that the pioneering work of the Santa Ana organization, in extending the Big Brother movement to juvenile delinquents and abandoned or under-privileged children, has not only attracted attention throughout the country, but is bearing fruit. Several tables in California have adopted the Santa Ana idea as their objective, he explained.

In Eureka, the county seat of Humboldt county, the Knights of the Round Table and the Rotary club are co-operating with the juvenile authorities in juvenile welfare work, it was stated.

Trust Officer Speaks

John C. Campbell, trust officer of the Orange County Trust and Savings bank, spoke on the history, purpose and functions of trust bodies, whether organized independently or forming a service department of a banking institution.

A pleasing number of the program, in charge of the Rev. Moffet Rhodes, was the musical entertainment provided by Mrs. Arthur May, soprano, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong, pianist, whose numbers were well received.

Dr. Will A. Flood, president, appointed a special committee to arrange for a picnic, to be held in the near future at the Orange County park.

BENCH WARRANT DUE FOR DEMPSEY

MADERA, Calif., May 22.—If Jack Dempsey is not present when his speeding case is called next Tuesday, a bench warrant will be issued for his arrest, Justice L. E. Bailey declared today.

No attempt has been made through the local judge to obtain postponement, he declared.

Such efforts were made, however, through District Attorney N. A. Bailey, who denied the request. "Certain influential parties attempted to secure postponement of the case through me, but I did not grant it," declared the prosecutor.

Venue from which a jury will be impaneled already have been called.

Dempsey is now in training at Hendersonville, N. C. Dispatches today quoted him as saying he would not answer the summons here, but that he would make an effort to have his case postponed several days until he had completed his contract at the North Carolina resort.

DEALING WITH AGGRESSORS

Text: Genesis 26:12-25

Then Isaac sowed in that land, and received in the same year an hundredfold; and the Lord blessed him.
And the man waxed great, and went forward, and grew until he became very great.
For he had possession of flocks, and possession of herds, and great store of servants. And the Philistines envied him.
For all the wells which his father's servants had digged, in the days of Abraham his father, the Philistines had stopped them, and filled them with earth.
And Abimelech said unto Isaac, Go from us; for thou art much mightier than we.
And Isaac departed thence, and pitched his tent in the valley of Gerar, and dwelt there.
And Isaac digged again the wells of water which they had digged in the days of Abraham his father: for the Philistines had stopped them after the death of Abraham; and he called their names after the names by which his father had called them.
And Isaac's servants digged in the valley, and found there a well of springing water.
And the herdman of Gerar did strive with Isaac's herdman, saying, The water is mine, and he called the name of the well Esek; because they strove with him.
And they digged another well, and strove for that also; and he called the name of it Sitnah.
And he removed from thence, and digged another well; and for that they strove not and he called the name of it Rehoboth; and he said, For now the Lord hath made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land.
And he went up thence to Beersheba.
And the Lord appeared unto him in the same night, and said, I am the God of Abraham thy father: fear not, for I am with thee, and will bless thee, and multiply thy seed, for my servant Abraham's sake.
And he builded an altar there, and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent there; and there Isaac's servants digged a the herdsmen of Gerar, who claimed this well.

Isaac apparently was a man of peace, and he dug another well, but they strove for that also. Of the third well that he dug they left him in peaceful possession. He called the name of this well Rehoboth, "for now the Lord hath made room for us, and we shall be fruitful in the land."

Abraham's Ideals

It is interesting to see the peaceful ideals of Abraham finding expression in his son Isaac. It is a wise and sound policy to avoid petty quarrels, and it is not always a right attitude to stand too pugnaciously for one's "rights."

Rehoboth, the name by which Isaac called the well, has been interpreted as meaning literally "broad places" or "open places." One commentator says that a modern English equivalent would be "freedom" or "liberty."

Freedom and liberty are attained as much through avoiding strife as through conquest, though it is not always possible to avoid strife. Inasmuch as Isaac followed in the path of Abraham, it is not surprising that through him should have been continued God's covenant with Abraham.

The closing verse of our lesson is instructive. It tells how Isaac did four things at Beersheba where Jehovah appeared unto him, apparently in a dream, confirming to him the promises made to Abraham.

Isaac built an altar there; he called upon the name of Jehovah; he pitched his tent there; and he had his servants dig a well. What do these things symbolize in modern life?

Do we build an altar to God, consecrating ourselves to his plans and purposes?

Do we make the environments of His altar our dwelling place? Do we do our part in digging the well that symbolizes the springs of life and refreshing?

Here we have forcefully set before us life as a sacred enterprise. Only the man who makes his life that can presume to enter at all into the spirit of this lesson.

Old Friends Invited To Luncheon for House-guest

FRIENDLY companionship which has endured for many years, was expressed today in a luncheon at the J. A. Smiley home, in West Orange, honoring a house-guest, Mrs. A. M. Aldrich of Riverside.

Mrs. Aldrich, who has resided in Riverside for the past fifty years, and has a wide circle of loving friends there, will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Smiley until the middle of the coming week. Assembling today in her honor, were to be Mrs. A. M. Aldrich, Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler of this city, and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Price of Los Angeles, together with the hosts and their son, Robert D. Smiley.

Mrs. Smiley used quantities of choice roses combined with sweet peas to adorn the pretty home, and the table where luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, was extremely lovely with the same blossoms smiling amidst the silver and china. An afternoon of friendly chat and reminiscences was to follow.

Hats Are Fashioned At Merry Party

Milliners would have received many clever ideas if they could have peeped in at the party in the parish hall of the Church of the Messiah which was given last night for the boys of the church by the Girls' Friendly society. One of the features of a happy evening was the making of a hat or cap, by each one present and many varied were the designs used for the chapeaux which were fashioned from crepe paper.

The remainder of the evening was passed quickly in playing games which caused much hilarity among the young people. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Miss Marcia Keeler aided by Mrs. W. L. H. Benton, Mrs. Marshall Keeler and Miss Jean Battersby.

Those who enjoyed the party were Miss Battersby, Mrs. Benton, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. A. H. T. Taylor, Miss Margaret Clonfoni, Miss Beatrice Boyd, Miss Bernice Boyd, Miss Kate Benton, Miss Enid Twist, Miss Margaret Bond-Louis, Miss Catherine Chapman, Miss Louise Stephenson, Miss Olive Adelle Granger, Miss Marcia Keeler, Miss Juliette Taylor, Miss Dorothy Jardine, Lyle Webber, Gerald Twist, Raymond Dawson, Terry Stephenson, Orest Clonfoni, Wylie Carlyle Creston Harnois, Leonard Field, Edward Field, George Hadden, Eric Twist, Jack Taylor and John Keeler.

Music Recital

Shaffer-Peek
Much interest attached to the presentation Thursday afternoon of a group of young people in a program of music and readings, by their two instructors, Ione Tunison Peek, piano, and Gladys Simpson Shaffer, soprano. The two talented young women are connected with the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music, and their recital was staged in the reception rooms of the conservatory on North Main street.

The program opened with musical readings by Mary Clonfoni whose numbers were "The Old Chest of Stairs" by Edmund Vance Cook and Price's "Patchwork Quilt." In rapid succession came the other numbers, piano solos by Rebecca McPeak, Keith Stewart, Damaris Peek and Nancy Delatour, a very nicely played duet by Damaris Peek and Nancy Delatour, all played with much expression by Mrs. Peek's group of pupils, all of whom are beginners in music.

Interwoven with these were the readings and stories by expression pupils of Mrs. Shaffer, who is instructing the young people in the art of story telling and whose excellent methods were exemplified in a group of "Uncle Remus" stories by Miss Chalmers Lindsay; "Reflections" of Lafcadio Hearn told by Miss Nellie Mal Chapman, a Kipling tale and an "Uncle Remus" (Joel Chandler Hart) story, told by Miss Mary Clonfoni, together with Edgar Guest poems presented interestingly by Katharine Vavra.

Budrow-Haughton
Ebell auditorium was well filled Thursday night with an enthusiastic audience, the occasion being the presentation of the talented students of Miss Carolyn Haughton, who are studying piano, and those of Madame Manuela V. Budrow, who are having their voices trained. All participants upon the lengthy program acquitted themselves with credit to their instructors, from the very young lads and lassies, who played with poise and self-confidence to the older young folk who will be the artists of the morrow.

Miss Ruth Armstrong added greatly to the success of the evening's program with her excellent accompaniments, playing all of them with the exception of the chorus numbers, when Madame Budrow was at the piano. Many of the participants received beautiful floral offerings from their friends and Madame Budrow and Miss Haughton were also presented with baskets of flowers.

Freddie Moesser Barger in Moszkowsky's "Lovely Springtime," Mrs. Ruth Madlener's rendition of "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from St. Saens' "Samson and Delilah," Edward Delgado in the "Largo al Factotum della Cila" from "The Barber of Seville," Robert Bradford's magnificent interpretation of the prologue from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and Mrs. Evelyn Getty and Edward Delgado in the duet from "Il Trovatore" were outstanding.

Friday at St. Ann's Is Anticipated Event of Week

FRIDAY'S special dinner features at St. Ann's Inn are coming more and more to be recognized as one of the most delightful events of the week by the city's epicureans, who realize that they are proffered an unusual menu amidst the loveliest surroundings in the community.

While countless patrons drop in in groups of two and three or four, for a leisurely and appreciative enjoyment of the special dinners, there are many that seize the opportunity to stage gay little parties. Last night saw several such groups seated at intervals in the spacious dining-room. One of these was a merry group gathered at the invitation of Mrs. C. W. Burns, to compliment Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns ere her departure for a trip abroad.

The day chanced to celebrate the birthday of the honor guest, with that of the hostess but three days away, so the occasion was doubly pleasant. Pastel-tinted flowers arranged artistically in a pale blue bowl, centered the table where places were arranged for the hostess, Mrs. C. W. Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Quick, Miss Grace Grigby and Mrs. M. H. Mickle.

At a nearby table, Arvid E. Gilmount was entertaining a few friends complimentary to Mrs. Gilmount, down from Los Angeles and her duties as school librarian there, to spend the week-end. Seated at their flower-laden table were Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Yould and Horace Fine, together with the hosts.

An interesting luncheon party earlier in the day, was served in the east dining-room when Charles Case of Whittier and his bride, formerly Miss Florence Larter of Westminster, were given seats of honor at a beautifully appointed table. The floral decorations expressed all that charm and originality of which Mrs. Robert L. Bisby, wife of the manager, is capable, and the tables, surrounded by the beautifully gowned women of the wedding party, made a striking scene.

Places were laid for the newlyweds, Mrs. and Mr. Charles Case, Mr. and Mrs. H. Larter, parents of the bride; Mrs. Case, sister of the groom; Miss Mildred Donohue, charming bridesmaid; Donald Larter, best man; the Rev. Mr. Weld and Mrs. Weld, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Royce, M. and Mrs. R. E. Larter, J. K. McDonald, Mesdames R. T. Harris, Jennie Virgin and Virginia Patterson.

At the anticipated opening of the new Broadway theater on June 2, R. L. Bisby plans to co-operate with E. D. Yost, owner, by planning a theater special in his dinner menu. As soon as he announces his intention of celebrating the event at the Inn, reservations began to pour in, especially as it soon became known that many of the motion picture stars coming down from Hollywood for the event, would dine at the Inn and make it their headquarters.

Serving will begin early in order to accommodate those who wish to go to the first performance, scheduled to begin at 8:30 o'clock.

ing vocal numbers, other young singers who pleased being Josephine Taylor, Donald Ward, a promising tenor, Nada Smith, Catherine Maroon, Hazel Miller and Louise Schmidt.

People of Santa Ana are greatly interested in the progress of Miss Veda Mitchell, a talented young pianist, who started her piano lessons with Miss Haughton when a very small girl. She, with Miss Virginia Lowell did really professional work in Grieg's Peer Gynt suite on two pianos. Miss Mitchell also played Prelude in E Minor (from First Modern Suite) by Macdowell and Miss Lowell acquitted herself well in "From the Rainbow Spring," by Homer Gurn. Miss Mitchell, with Miss Haughton at the second piano, rendered the last movements of Mendelssohn's Concerto in G Minor.

Beginning with the little maids, Miss Marian Doty opening the program, Vivian Westbrook, Bobby Brown, Mary Anna Deaver, Helen Gardner, Grace Gettle, Frances Nuckolls, Charles Adams, Evelyn Covell and Eugenia Gilbert assisted with instrumental numbers to make the evening a success.

A double male quartet composed of Arthur J. Smith, Allan Reins, Donald Ward, Robert Bradford, Carl Wollenan, Kenneth Workman, Harold Walburg and Edward Delgado sang, beautifully "Daybreak" (Cuthbert Harris) and "Amarielles" (Edmund Barlow).

The finishing touch to the program was given by the women's chorus in "Come," written by Madame Budrow. The singers were Mrs. Evelyn Getty, Mrs. Edna Paine, Mrs. Ruth Madlener, Mrs. Freddie Moesser Barger and the Misses Louise Schmidt, Catherine Maroon, Josephine Taylor, Helen Grimm, Blanche Hillman, Grace Keister, Marian Randall, Madge Irwin, Anna Marie McDowell, Dorothy Maroon, Hazel Miller, Nada Smith and Marie Louise Budrow.

Pretty Country Home Is Setting for Dinner Party

SA FINAL "gathering of the clan" ere the departure for the north of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Plavan and Miss Edith Plavan, was the family dinner which Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Plavan gave Thursday evening at their lovely new home south of Talbert, near Huntington Beach.

The young people have just taken possession of the home, so the farewell party for their parents was likewise a house-warming offering the travelers the opportunity to carry with them, the memory of their son and his family as pleasantly sojourned in their own home.

An elaborate dinner was served at a table gay with pink sweet peas with which forget-me-nots were appropriately intermingled. Covers were laid for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Plavan, the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Plavan, Miss Edith Plavan, Leland Plavan and the two small daughters of the hosts, Marilyn Jeanne and Lucille. The travelers left yesterday at noon for Corvallis, Ore., where they will be joined by Miss Wilma Plavan, a member of this year's agricultural college, and after the commencement exercises, the group will continue on to Victoria to meet Mrs. Loren Mead and her little son, returning from their home in China for an extended stay in the States.

The Sterlings Leave For Los Angeles Home

While their many friends are congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Sterling upon the advancement proffered Mr. Sterling in his work with the bond house of Peirce, Fair and Company, all are expressing regret that the change will take the Sterlings away from Santa Ana.

The popular young couple have resided here the past year and a half during which time, Mr. Sterling as representative of the bonding house, developed the county for the company. His advancement has taken him into the office of the company in Los Angeles, although he will continue to handle the work in this county until his successor is chosen. Mr. Sterling was a Kiwanian and Mrs. Sterling was active in Ebell and University Women circles. Both made hosts of warm friends, whose wishes for continued prosperity follow them to their new home.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

St. Ann's Altar
On Tuesday afternoon about 20 members of St. Ann's Altar society gathered at the home of Mrs. R. Schulte, 1038 West Camille street where decorations were beautiful flowers from her own garden.

The afternoon was most enjoyably spent playing whist after which refreshments were served. Before leaving the party was favored with two songs beautifully sung by Mrs. Leavitt, daughter of the hostess.

Class Picnic
Motoring over from Pomona, the Willing Workers class of the First Congregational church of that city, spent an enjoyable day earlier in the week, with their former member, Mrs. L. T. Bishop, 813 Riverline avenue.

The guests arrived early in the forenoon and remained for the entire day, each adding a prepared dish to the menu of the mid-day dinner. The class is one that devotes its time to charity and missionary work with one meeting a month devoted to social pursuits. The May social day was the one spent so pleasantly in this city.

Mrs. Theo A. Winbigger, accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton, sang a beautiful number entitled, "The Mission of the Rose." Announcement was made that Mrs. Mills, national W.H.M.S. officer, would give addresses at two mid-week services in June and that Mrs. S. E. Johnson, branch officer of the society, would speak at one meeting.

Miss G. Richardson, Mrs. Brandebury and Mrs. Schick were named as a nominating committee to select officers for the coming year. Miss Grace Dillingham of Korea, gave a most interesting talk on her work among girls and women in that country showing how conditions had bettered since introduction of the Christian religion. A social hour followed during which refreshments were served by Mrs. McCormac, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. Hutchins and Mrs. Blower.

Ebell Society Offers Concert Violinist Monday Afternoon

EBBEL society members will have the pleasure Monday afternoon of hearing that celebrated young concert violinist, Vera Barstow, on this her first trip to the Pacific coast. She will be the feature of the afternoon program, beginning at 2 o'clock, in the auditorium of the clubhouse.

Mrs. Clarence A. Gustlin, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth and Miss Gallene Finley, comprising the society's program committee, were able to secure her appearance for the afternoon, an announcement of which is certain to attract a record attendance of members.

Known internationally for her musical ability, and yet a product of America alone, Miss Barstow is conceded to rank among the highest of the world's artists. She has played with leading symphony orchestras both at home and abroad, including Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Minneapolis Symphonies, the Vienna Tonkünstler orchestra, the Berlin Philharmonic, the New Symphony of Toronto and many others.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Music Teachers' Association
members of the county, are anticipating a rare treat Monday night when they gather in Earl Fraser's studio in the Greenleaf building for the May session. For their host and Ollmae Enlow Matthews have consented to repeat for them the famous Cesar Frank Sonata for violin and piano, which created so much enthusiasm when they presented it as an impromptu feature of their recent pupil recital at Ebell auditorium. The business and musical program will begin at 8 o'clock and will offer other interesting features in addition to the Sonata.

Business and Professional Women are completing plans for a merry evening Tuesday night at Balboa where they will dine at Southern Seas club. Automobile drivers in the club are requested to notify the program committee, the Misses Lorraine French, Peggy King, Helen Walker or Mrs. Ruth Taylor Scudler, of the guests they have asked to go in their machines, or to meet at the Y. W. rooms, as a central location from which to start for the beach city.

Young Matron Honors June Bride-elect At Gift Shower

HONORING Miss Marion Preston, who on June 26 will become the bride of William Noble, a delightfully appointed affair was given by Mrs. Vernon J. Williams, (formerly Katherine Packard) at her home 208 West Bishop street.

Guests included girl friends of the happy bride-elect, who joined in making it a memorable occasion, by each adding a beautiful gift, which was smuggled into the home, without the knowledge of the honoree.

Many lovely flowers were used in adorning the home in which card-tables were arranged for bridge. When scores were tallied at the close of the series of games, Miss Irene Natland was awarded high score, receiving a dainty bottle of bath salts. Mrs. Gorman Rogers received an amber vase for second high while Mrs. Roscoe Hewitt, scoring low, received a box of chocolates.

Mrs. Williams then arranged her tables with attractive linens and, assisted by Miss Irene Natland, served a dainty refreshment course, after which packages were brought in and placed before Miss Preston. They were opened by the surprised honoree and each revealed an exquisite gift which will add to the many treasures of her cedar chest.

Those enjoying the evening, in addition to the bride-elect, included the Misses Irene Natland, Mae Pierce, Lucile Gates, Melvina Frye, Jean Ross, Aletha Jones, Ruth Thomas and Mesdames Esther Hall, Gladys Nelson, Florence Rogers, Marjorie Patterson, Clara Hewitt and Mrs. Frank A. Preston, mother of the honoree.

Lively Game of Hearts Is Entertainment of Luncheon Guests

HEARTS formed the merry diversion of a guest group entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. Fred L. Cole, 613 Cypress street, where a 1 o'clock luncheon preceded the afternoon at cards.

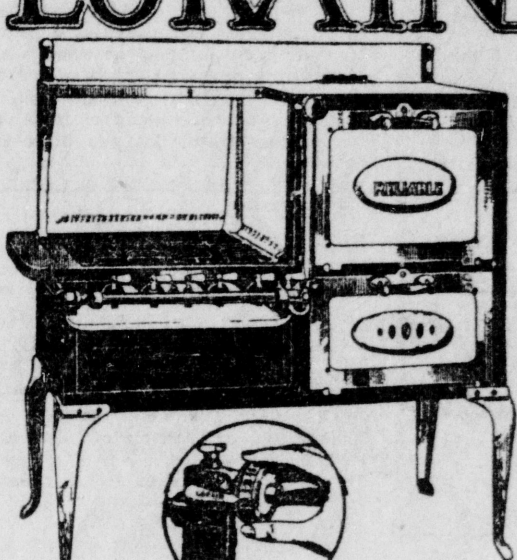

A wide variety in form and color, distinguished the garden flowers used effectively in decoration, and the tables were centered with blossoms in pastel tints. Places were found by means of hand-painted cards harmonizing in color and design, and the work of Miss Geraldine Cole, accomplished young daughter of the home. During the afternoon, Miss Geraldine added further to the pleasure of the guests by playing several very pleasing piano solos.

Attractive prizes were secured by Mrs. John Norton, Mrs. W. O. Hill and Mrs. Lucy Avis, making first, second and third high scores, respectively.

Enjoying the friendly afternoon with Mrs. Cole were Mesdames H. C. Head, W. O. Hill, J. E. Prentice, E. T. Mater, Harry Roberts, Fred Avis, Will Wadkins, John Gould, G. V. Linsenbaird, C. E. Brown, John Norton, Lucy Avis, Molly Tyrell, W. H. Hanley, Miss Gertrude E. Minor and Miss Ida Nay.

Time alone can reveal the vantage points in a city's development. Santa Ana has felt its way along as it grew, but, as in the history of every other city, its movements have followed the course of least resistance and easy access.

These movements have finally and definitely settled upon Main Street as their nerve center. That does not mean that Main Street is the ONLY worthwhile street in Santa Ana, but there must be a CENTER of greatest concentration from which the city radiates, and Main Street is that center.

It is "open at both ends" for development, it is our principal traffic lane, there is a standard of values on its property, it is the street that will eventually bring Orange and Santa Ana together.

We would do well to center our attention on Main Street for a while and make it as attractive as possible to the traveler. The whole of Santa Ana will prosper as Main Street prospers.

IVANHOE—Sir Walter Scott's Classic in Pictorial Form

A LETTER HAD BEEN DELIVERED TO THE CASTLE OF FRONT-DE-BOEUF, WHICH WAS THE REASON FOR THE SOUNDING OF THE HORN. FRONT-DE-BOEUF, THE BRAGY AND BOIS-GUILBERT, OPENING IT, READ IT. AT LEAST, BOIS-GUILBERT DID, FOR HE WAS THE ONLY ONE AMONG THEM ACQUAINTED WITH THE WRITTEN WORD.

THE LETTER WAS FROM WAMBA THE JESTER, GURTH AS THE SWINEHERD, THE KNIGHT KNOWN AS THE BLACK SLUGGARD AND LOCKSLEY THE BOWMAN. IT ANNOUNCED THE INMATES OF THE CASTLE OF THE FACT THAT OUTSIDE WAS A FORCE OF MEN DEMANDING THE RELEASE OF CEDRIC, ATHELSTANE, ISAAC, REBECCA AND ALL WITH THEM, ON PAIN OF SIEGE.

AN ANSWER WAS WRITTEN, ASKING THAT A PRIEST BE SENT TO THE CASTLE TO SHRIVE THE PRISONERS, FOR IT WAS THE NORMANS' PURPOSE TO KILL THEM. HIS DEFIANT ANSWER WAS RECEIVED AND READ, AND FOR WANT OF A BETTER, WAMBA WAS SENT TO THE CASTLE IN THE HABIT OF A MONK. HE WAS ADMITTED AND RECEIVED BY THE NORMAN KNIGHTS.

HE PROCEEDED TO THE CHAMBER OF CEDRIC AND THERE, MAKING HIMSELF KNOWN TO HIS MASTER, WAMBA EXCHANGED CLOTHING WITH HIM AND CEDRIC MADE HIS WAY OUT, FIRST BEING DETAINED BY THE HAG URFRID WHO TOLD HIM HE WAS UNLAWFUL, DAUGHTER OF A SAKON NOBLE. RECOGNIZING CEDRIC, SHE MADE HIM WATCH FOR HER SIGNAL AND THEN PRESS TO THE ATTACK.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

Me First!

The husband loves his mother. And his aunt. He would love his wife, if she would let him. But she demands all or nothing. She is infuriated by his love for these others. "Am I your wife or am I not?" she shrieks, when he does something for the other two. Implying that a woman cannot be loved and cherished as a wife if a husband respects and loves other women who have claims upon him too. All this in the Pulitzer prize-winning play of the year, "Craig's Wife." And not an especially extreme case! This jealousy between wives and mothers, mothers and wives, has made many a married man's life a curse to him!

Cinderella's Clothes!
"I want Peaches to wear a new outfit at every appearance," says Edward Browning, millionaire bridegroom to 15-year-old Peaches, his Cinderella girl bride. The white-haired bridegroom explains that when Peaches has a new dress he wants her hat and coat and slippers to match it perfectly!

The Right Ideal!
Which proves that in the midst of rapturous honeymooning with his goldlocks, "Daddy" must get some time to read the fashion magazines which insist almost as never before that complete outfits harmonize or matching must be worn. A beige and brown invisible check top-coat, for instance, worn with a beige print dress, a large beige hat with brown velvet band, beige hose and slippers.

New Job For Girls!
Musical maidens who aspire to "do something" with their voices might get jobs singing in hospital wards. Science now holds the curative power of song and it is said that doctors are engaging sweet-voiced damsels to carol for them before certain patients.

For the special benefit of those who complain about the high cost of a can of beans on a dining car, the railroads reveal these figures. A dining car alone costs $50,000, they explain. Laundry average four cents a person, crew, forty cents, fuel and ice, five cents, and 25 cents for miscellany before the food itself is considered at all.

Cook This at Home!
That's why I don't advise you to order mock duck on the diner. But try it on your own kitchen. Pound a half-inch round steak. Spread over it a dressing made from melted lump of butter, egg size, teaspoon grated onion, pinch of sage and pint of bread crumbs moistened with one egg stirred into frying pan when butter is hot. Roll up and fasten with string with stitches. Stick with strips of fat bacon. Put in dripping pan with little water and baste often. Bake in moderate oven an hour and serve with the gravy.

Trial Marriage Test.
"Our trial marriage lasted ten years. Our legal marriage but two." So explains the divorced wife of Franz Molnar, playwright. A sad commentary on human nature, this—that it can only endure the clandestine, the unrestricted, and is so childish that it cannot find freedom even in "bondage."

AN EASY GAME

Golf is an easy game to play, a fact which I can prove. The little ball you want to hit is one that will not move. It stays exactly where it lies until your stroke is made. And that it's going to dodge your club, you needn't be afraid! So take your time and play your stroke, and let the blow be true. And flex your wrists and twist your hips—that's all you have to do. There's nothing to the game of golf—the club will do the work. You'll hit the ball with grace and ease, but never if you jerk. So just stand up and bend your knee a little to the right, and lift your heel and put it down but not with all your might. And use your fingers, not your palms, and let the club go through. And keep your eye upon the ball—that's all you have to do.

Mrs. Paul Whiteman (Vanda Hoff) and her son, Paul Whiteman, Jr.

By VANDA HOFF (Mrs. Paul Whiteman)
For some time now, a good story has been going the rounds to the effect that it is impossible for a woman to be successful at mothering and wage earning at the same time.

It is a quaint, lavender-scented notion but I almost believed it for a while. For nearly two years, to be exact.

Before my baby came, I was certain that all I wanted out of life was to be a mother. I had tried being a dancer and like it well enough, but it seemed to me motherhood was the greatest career. I even looked forward to the daily cycle of bottles and safety pins.

My theory lasted pretty well, but the other day I suddenly knew that it was due for a reversal. In short, I am tired of being a mother and nothing else. I like my baby just as well as ever and would not give him up for anything, but I miss my work, the career I had made particularly my own, first by temperament and then by training. So I am going back to my dancing.

I do not mean that a woman whose life has been spent far from the field of commerce should feel, once her baby is born, that she can justifiably say, "Well, that's that!" and crash into the unexplored wilds of business.

Nor do I mean that a girl who has had a job that never did interest her should insist on clinging to that job when it means that Junior must be left at home with a nurse whose wages equal or overtop what's contained in mother's Saturday envelope.

But take the case of an intelligent woman who has for years occupied a position of importance to herself, her employer and her

Two pounds spinach, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 6 slices crisp broiled bacon, six squares toast. Cook spinach in its own juice until tender. Chop without draining and return to kettle. Add salt, butter, lemon juice and paprika and stir over the fire until very hot and thoroughly blended. Arrange toast on a hot platter, cover with spinach and garnish with the crisp bacon curls. If points of golden brown toast are left uncovered the dish is most appetizing looking.

Is Home Life Complete?

BY CYNTHIA GREY

"Let us hear something of the joys of marriage as well as its burdens," writes Mrs. E. G. Butler of Glendale, Ariz.

"I'd rather hear my husband say he could not have succeeded without me, than receive a weekly pay check large enough to satisfy every material wish.

"Without him my life would be an empty shell. I crave no nobler mission than to share his work and his success."

So that's something else again! There seems to be at least one woman left whose highest aim is to be her husband's helpmeet. It is at least interesting to hear such views in the midst of all the feminist battle cries.

But as a standard for women in general, well, this "mission" seems just a little tiny. Women have passed the stage of mental development when the mere sharing of a man's success will satisfy.

Not Far Enough

This sharing idea is very well, so far as it goes. But for most modern day women, there isn't enough substance to it. Modern woman craves some stimulating work of her own, something that she can throw herself into, taking the same risks that man takes, and winning the same laurels.

Perhaps wifehood and motherhood are enough to keep a woman busy all her life. Maybe keeping a house clean and a husband soothed is a good day's work, every day.

But that seems to me to depend on the husband. Of course, if a man gets used to being his wife's whole vocation, he is going to hold on to the role.

I would be willing to wager that there is less boredom and disagreement in a home where the wife also has her own concerns than in a home too solely devoted to the admiration of the husband.

A Thought

The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings' palaces.—Prov. 30:28.

There is a perennial nobleness and even sacredness in work. Were he ever so benighted, forgetful of his high calling, there is always hope in a man who actually and earnestly works.—Carylisle.

Ellen Key Dead!

Hardly a whisper of it in the press, but Ellen Key, feminist, who has probably done more to unfetter women of the nineteenth and twentieth century than any other human being, died at her country home in Sweden a few days ago, aged 76. Read her "Woman and Labor." Reflect when it was written and see if you do not believe her a daring, free-thinking person!

SKIN BLEMISHES
The ordinary run of skin blemishes, eruptions, blackheads, coarse pores and such things, may be traced to wrong eating, or wrong or insufficient methods of cleansing the skin. The remedy, of course, is obvious. The body must be clean inside and clean outside. I mean that it must be given foods that keep it healthy, that is, which nourish without overtaxing the digestion and without clogging or interfering with the eliminative system.

Also the pores of the body must be kept clean to do their share in carrying away the waste product which the body is constantly throwing off, and where the skin is definitely unclean; for instance where a pimple has come, or a collection of blackheads, the place must be made as nearly antiseptic as possible. Such places contain collections of active germs, and besides being personally unpleasant are capable of reinfecting the skin and causing still more unpleasant complications.

Therefore while you do everything possible through diet, simple foods and medicines to correct the internal cause, you should use antiseptic lotions or creams on your skin. An excellent one for use at bed-time is equal parts of ordinary cold cream, any variety that you may be using, and zinc ointment. The skin should be thoroughly cleansed with soap and hot water before using this. It should be rubbed in well, allowed to stay on as long as convenient, then wiped off with a soft cloth. I have recommended this zinc cream for many cases of poor

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 18—A TOTEM-POLE CONVERSATION

The Totem Pole had six faces and when the three travelers came along all the faces opened their mouths.

"Oh, my poor, poor shadow!" cried the little Whiffet. "It didn't get lost at all! It was stolen. And now it has to work for old Snoopy. It will be all worn out, my poor shadow will."

"Don't cry," said Nancy. "Shadows can stand a good bit. But come along. We'd better be moving."

Pretty soon they come to a Totem Pole. The Totem Pole had six faces and when the three travelers came along all the faces opened their mouths and said, "How do you do?"

The Twins and the Whiffet were too surprised to answer for minutes, but finally Nancy got out, "What a pretty well, thank you." And dropped a curtsy.

"That's fine," said the first face on the Totem Pole. "And now what can we do for you?"

"I lost my shadow and Mister Snoopy stole it," said the Whiffet. "Do you know where he is?"

"I'll ask my next neighbor," said the first face. So he asked the second face and the second face said, "He's gone to the doctors."

"What doctor's?" asked the Whiffet. And all the faces asked, "What doctor's?" on up until it came to the last face.

"Let me see," said that one. "I think it was his peg leg he sprained, so likely it was the carpenter instead of the doctor."

"Likely it was the carpenter instead of the doctor," went on down the line until the answer got to the bottom.

"Where does the carpenter live?" asked the Whiffet.

Up went the question from one mouth to the other until it came to the ears of the face at the top of the Totem Pole. Then down came the answer again a step at a time. "Three leagues and a goose step from the saw-mill."

"Thank you," said the Whiffet. "We'd better be going."

And as they left, the Twins and the little rag-bag boy heard the answer stepping down, saying at each step, "You're welcome!"

"Three leagues at a goose step!" said Nick. "What's a goose step?"

"I'll show you," said a big brown and black goose. "Follow me."

So they followed the goose and came at last to the saw-mill. Then he turned to the right and they followed him some more.

"Three leagues," he said stopping. Here we are."

The Carpenter had been out riding on his saw-horse. Bpt when he saw that company had come, he got off and tipped his hat.

"Did Master Snoopy come here?" asked Nick. "And if so, when, and where to?"

"My goodness! You sound like a school-board," said the Carpenter. "I suppose he always thinks 'boards,' whispered Nancy, 'being a carpenter.'"

"But," went on the Carpenter. "I'll answer everything. Yes, Mister Snoopy was here and I made him a new leg. He just left for the South Pole."

"Poles too!" whispered Nancy. "That's what being a carpenter does to one. Turns him into a wooden head."

"I want my shadow!" whimpered the Whiffet. "Is the South Pole far?"

YOST THEATER

Harry Langdon exceeds expectations. We thought he would be good. Now we know that he is great.

"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," which closes tonight at the Yost theater, definitely establishes Langdon as a top-notch among film comedians. He is beyond the shadow of a doubt as funny an actor as has ever been seen in the film.

Langdon's humor is enigmatical. He is the picture of innocence involved in all sorts of complications. Very, very funny indeed.

"Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," is an appropriate title for the story of a transcontinental hike. Harry's peregrinations take him all over the country and into all manner of difficulties. He is launched over a precipice, he is set to work on a rock pile and he is caught in a cyclone.

Beautiful Joan Crawford plays opposite the comedian. The rest of the highly able cast includes Tom Murray, Edwards Davis, Alec Francis and Brooks Benedict.

PRINCESS THEATER

The smugglers along the international border which included part of Cayuse county successfully foiled the secret service men as to the method in which they were bringing in their dope. But after a regular cattle man got on the job it became only a question of rounding them up.

Cultus Collins was sheriff of the county but he was also a rancher

Conrad Nagel and Eleanor Boardman in a scene from "Memory Lane," picture opening tomorrow at the Yost theater.

Collins is the role played by Jack Hoxie in "The Border Sheriff," Universal-Blue Streak Western in which Hoxie is starring and which comes to the Princess theater Sunday and Monday.

A scene from "Under Western Skies," film opening today at the West End theater.

WEST COAST-WALKER.

A fast-moving farce comedy that is plentifully punctuated with laughter is "Money Talks," the production that opens tomorrow at the West Coast-Walker theater. It was directed from a story by Rupert Hughes, the author of "Excuse Me," and is hailed as one of the snappiest and uproarious comedies since then.

In the role of Sam Starling, an advertising man who is trying to put himself over on bluff, Owen Moore carries practically the whole picture. Just as he is on "his last legs" and the installment men have taken his furniture and his wife (played by Claire Windsor) has left him in disgust, he breezes into the office of a money losing pleasure park and persuades the owner to turn it into a sanitarium. He enlists the aid of a famous woman doctor who fails to show up and to save the situation Owen poses as the lady physician.

The result can easily be imagined and the hilarity is added to by the presence of Bert Roach as a heavy drinker who is continually wandering around minus trousers and getting into a woman's room, and by the fact that the excursion boat is actually a runaway runner packed with contraband and the appearance of hijackers and revenue officers add to the excitement. Of course the hero puts the scheme over and wins back his wife.

Straight farce, absolutely implausible but chock full of gags and laughs, "Money Talks" will provide genuine amusement for everyone and keep them in chuckles. Owen Moore, scores and is especially amusing in his masquerade of a woman. Claire Windsor is in a role exactly suited to her, and Bert Roach will keep the audience smiling when Owen is not on the screen. The story moves rapidly with never a second's let-up the gags and comedy situations providing both laughs and excitement.

YOST THEATER

"The perfect American wife." That is the title that John M. Stahl, producer-director, has applied to Eleanor Boardman, famed screen star.

Stahl's latest production, "Memory Lane," featuring Miss Boardman, Conrad Nagel and William Haines, opens tomorrow at the Yost theater. In this picture, the star enacts the role of the wife of a small-town New England merchant.

"Aside from being one of the most sensitive actresses I have ever directed," declares Stahl, "Eleanor Boardman seems to understand better than any other star the psychology of the average American woman. This is the type she knows how to mirror perfectly on the screen."

"I have seldom received such aid from any actress as Miss Boardman is able to give. She possesses that intimate understanding of the average woman's reaction which only comes from an intelligent study of many different types. I became most aware of this facility while directing her in 'Memory Lane.'"

WEST COAST-WALKER.

The hazards of trans-oceanic aviation; the courage and skill of the airmen of the United States navy; the smashing drama of the hop to Hawaii last summer which riveted the attention of the world as the navy frantically searched the desolate waters of the Pacific for the fallen aviators at the mercy of the waves and savage mid-sea currents!

All of the foregoing has been beautifully and powerfully dramatized by Emory Johnson, noted producer, in his newest and biggest melo-dramatic picture, "The Non-Stop Flight," which closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater.

Paying a stirring tribute to America's Magellans of the air, lauding in terms of powerful drama the daring exploits of the brave Commander Rogers and his faithful crew, unfolding as well a poignant tale of love ashore and on the storm-lashed sea, Johnson brings to us again an intriguing narrative founded upon a theme of world-wide significance.

COURT FIGHT OVER
TITLE POSTPONED

The recent change in city administration in Huntington Beach caused a delay in hearing a legal dispute over title to a strip of land along the Pacific Electric right-of-way and Ocean boulevard. It was made known today, when the trial was postponed.

An action brought by the former administration, on behalf of the city, to quiet title to the strip, was scheduled for trial next Monday before Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

A. J. Thedleck, newly appointed as city attorney to succeed L. W. Blodget, who instituted the legal proceedings, was formally substituted as counsel for the city, yesterday. He asked the court to grant a continuance and the case was reset for trial July 8. Thedleck is understood to desire more time in which to prepare for the case.

The strip of land in dispute has been used for many years, it is alleged, as a public parking ground and thoroughfare. It lies between Ocean boulevard and the Pacific Electric railway, from Main street to Ninth street. The

Convincing Reasons why you should vote
"Yes" on three propositions vital to Santa Ana's growth and welfare

VOTE FOR SEWER BONDS

Shall the City of Santa Ana incur a bonded debt for the completion of the sewer system, of the City of Santa Ana, including the out-fall sewer, in the sum of $182,000.00?	YES	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	NO	<input type="checkbox"/>

PROPOSITION ON PUBLIC PARKS

Shall the City of Santa Ana incur a bonded debt for the acquisition of land in the City of Santa Ana for public parks in the sum of $250,000.00?	YES	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	NO	<input type="checkbox"/>

If we are going to have the Greater Santa Ana that the Parent-Teacher Association, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Women's Relief Corps, the Exchange Club, the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club, the Santa Ana Woman's Club, the Ebell Society, and the American Legion Auxiliary talk about there cannot be a better beginning than the purchase of parks which will assure recreation for everyone, safety for the children, and the exhilaration that our citizens will feel when they display such attractive properties to visiting friends. When you think of New York, associated with the thought is Central Park, and in Chicago it is Lincoln Park, and in San Francisco it is Golden Gate Park, and in Anaheim it is the Municipal Park, and in Santa Ana it is no park at all. (With limited apologies to Birch Park.)

Greater Santa Ana? That is an ambitious goal but it won't ever be reached until the citizenship travels the road of progress and visualizes those public features, some of which are suggested in the program to be presented to the voters May 26. The investment in recreational parks has been delayed too long and each succeeding year adds to the expense of purchase due to the steady encroachment of the business area. Ample acreage should be speedily secured to save for this beautiful and growing city those public accessories that are a delight to the eye and an adornment to our civic habiliments.

PROPOSITION ON BAND and ADVERTISING

Shall Ordinance No. 794 for Music and Advertising be adopted?	YES	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>
	NO	<input type="checkbox"/>

Save the Band!

Here are some reasons why we should vote for the continuation of our splendid band:

- 1st—Because your children or the children of your friends must have musical education to grow up intelligently and with a desire for the finer things of life.
- 2nd—Because a fine concert band is an incentive factor toward the musical progress of a community and an inspiration to study on the part of the youth.
- 3rd—Because we want to grow as fast as Long Beach did, bring more buyers, more spenders, and better our business.
- 4th—Because it is an investment; the money you vote for will be paid to our local musicians and will all come back to you from different channels.
- 5th—Because the band is composed of the finer type of men, who gave their time and money to give the city this fine organization.
- 6th—Because a good municipal band will advertise us as an intelligent and cultured people.
- 7th—Because Santa Ana is very little known outside Orange County.
- 8th—Because it would cost you only one cent for each concert, and you have the privilege of inviting your out-of-town friends and bring along as many as you wish, gratis.

Vote to Advertise Santa Ana

If Santa Ana had an advertising fund the immediate opportunity is offered to present the advantages of this city to millions. But Santa Ana has no advertising fund. The Chamber of Commerce has an invitation to supply the Philadelphia Sesquicentennial a quarter of a million folders to be distributed during the several months that that exhibition will be in progress, beginning in June. The General ticket offices of all the railroads have expressed a willingness to distribute our literature, but we have no literature to distribute because we have no money for its preparation. The point is obvious.

Cities require publicity as well as the individual merchant. The insignificant tax levy will afford ample funds so the Chamber of Commerce may go ahead with an advertising campaign that will pay big dividends in increased population. And the kind of advertising that Santa Ana will be able to present will reach people who will want to locate in just such a city as Santa Ana is known to be now by our own people, but unknown to those whom the Chamber will be able to reach.

MAY 26TH WILL BE AN IMPORTANT DAY in the history of Santa Ana. On that day her citizens will decide whether the city is to take definite forward steps or whether the cords of restraint will be used to prevent the advancement. Three propositions are to be submitted to the voters; first, extension of the sewer system; second, to acquire public parks; third, music and advertising ordinance. The first issue is mandatory as the state board of health has demanded such a program; the other propositions await the decision of our own people. The desirability of all three should readily appeal to the voter. There is no other way except through publicity to present our claims to the world and we haven't the money to circulate this unlimited fund of information and invitation. As to music we are also restrained. We have the talent; we haven't the cash. As to parks—well, it would require a very courageous citizenship to speak very loudly about what we have to offer in the park line. What we have is inviting and beautiful, but we haven't enough of it. So the bond issue which is to provide means to purchase ample parks is vital to civic progress and adornment. All of the three proposed propositions must be endorsed sooner or later. Why delay them now? Delay will only add to the installation expense at some future day. It is expedient to accept them now, and certainly profitable from the taxpaying standpoint. The progressive organizations of our city sense the need of an advertising and music fund, the park investment and sanitary sewage. All three propositions have their endorsement. Let them have yours and also your individual support. This city will move toward greater accomplishments when we all move in the same direction.

Your Civic Opportunity Comes May 26th

Open the door. Invite "Opportunity" to remain. If you do you will be thankful the visitor decided to make the call on Santa Ana. "Opportunity" will present three propositions for your consideration. They are looking for a home. They will add to your comfort and entertainment and health. One of these propositions is to purchase parks, another to create an advertising and music fund, and the other to complete Santa Ana's sewer system. The health of our citizens must be protected, relaxation assured by purchase of parks, and entertainment secured by municipal band music. All of the propositions possess merit, and their endorsement will enhance our reputation as a desirable place in which to live.

Be sure and ask "Opportunity" to make his home in Santa Ana.

MOTOR SALES OF APRIL SHOW LARGE GAIN IN ORANGE COUNTY

Good Financial Condition Of Region Indicated by Increase of 37 Per Cent

ADVANCE STATE'S SECOND GREATEST

1100 More Cars Purchased In Southern Area Than During Previous Period

Orange county dealers pushed new cars sales in April, 1926, to a 37 per cent increase over the same month in the previous year, it was revealed here today, through tabulations and comparisons made by Motor Registration News.

At the same time, the county jumped, in the column of the 15 leading counties in auto sales in the state, from tenth place, in 1925, to eighth place in 1926. The percentage gain made by the county was second highest in the state. The gain is accepted as an indication of good financial conditions here.

Commenting on registrations for the month of April, the News says: "The month of April, as regards automotive sales in the state of California, possibly has proved a little better than what a great many of the automotive merchants have predicted, inasmuch as the sales increase for this particular month were some 2042 greater than the 18,683 sold and registered in April, 1925. This sales increase in percentage amounts to 10 percent.

In comparing the total number of sales of April, 1926, as against last month, we find that the industry has fallen some 3756 short.

"Northern California's increase in sales is exactly the same as that of the state, namely 10 percent. The number of sales increased amounts to 942, while the totals reached for April, 1926, were 9658, and for April, 1925, 8716.

"Southern California's grand total for April, 1926, was 9987, while this year they were able to heap up a total of 11,067, making an increase of 1100 sales, or 11 percent.

"Eliminating the commercial car sales from the picture, we find that in the passenger car end of the industry the state totals amounted to 19,044 for the month just closed.

License Refund Will Be Allowed

Farmers and other owners of "box back" motor vehicles, used only incidentally in the transportation of property, who by mistake paid the regular commercial fee for registration, may secure a refund by making the proper application to the division of motor vehicles. It was announced today. Such claimants will be required to file an affidavit that the vehicle is used to transport property "occasionally or incidentally."

URGE MOVE TO LESSEN DANGER TO PEDESTRIAN

A request that teachers of California instruct pedestrian pupils to walk to the left hand side of the highways, facing traffic, as a means of reducing serious accidents, was forwarded to Will C. Wood, superintendent of instruction, today by Will H. Marsh, chief of the division of motor vehicles.

Pointing to the fact that 6000 children were killed in automobile accidents last year, Marsh declared that much of the hazard of pedestrian pupils, compelled to walk to school over the highways, could be eliminated by adoption of this suggestion.

Children walking on the right side of the road, he said, are unable to see traffic approaching from behind and often are hit before they are aware of the presence of danger.

An amendment to the motor vehicle act, compelling all pedestrians to walk on the left side of the highways, was considered at the last legislature, but failed of passage.

MANY REWARDS PAID FOR HIT, RUN MOTORISTS

Escapes of Cowardly Auto Drivers Less Frequent Than in Previous Years

Cowardly automobile drivers, who try to escape from the scene after hitting others, are getting away with much less frequency than in former years. It is shown in a report of the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

More law-abiding citizens now are giving active aid to the cause of justice by chasing the fleeing "hit-and-run" motorists and bringing about their capture. More rewards have been paid to date this year to persons who assisted in the arrest and conviction of "hit-and-run" motorists, who caused injury or death, than during all of last year.

The Automobile Club of Southern California has been paying rewards of $50 and $250 to such persons continuously since this plan was adopted in 1924 by the club directors, in an attempt to stem the tide of "hit-and-run" cases.

Rewards, totaling $1600, have been paid in 20 cases up to May 15 of this year. Three of these were for $250 because the apprehended motorists caused accidents which resulted in deaths of one or more persons. The other rewards of $50 each resulted from cases in which one or more persons were injured. The total amount of rewards paid out in 1925 was $1450 and the instances numbered 17. Seven rewards, totaling $550, were given to courageous capturers of "hit-and-run" drivers during 1924.

Jail sentences for the motorists who attempt to get away have increased greatly in number, it also is disclosed.

LONG DISTANCE QUALITY OF MACMILLAN GASOLINE PROVEN IN STAR CAR ECONOMY RUN FROM LONG BEACH TO ANAHEIM

Finish of the Scotch economy run, in which a Star car, using MacMillan gasoline, made a record run from Long Beach to the California Valencia Orange show, Anaheim. The distance, 26 miles was traversed on three quarts of gasoline. The driver of the car was Miss Elita Thompson, beauty contest winner. From left to right: G. W. Reid, manager of the orange show; "Doc" W. O. Wetherbee, Long Beach newspaperman; Dr. H. A. Johnston, president of the orange show, and Willard Reed, auto show executive.

SOUTHLAND TO BE VISITED BY MANY TOURISTS

Cities, recreation spots, auto camps and resorts of Southern California will be taxed to the utmost by this summer's motor travel, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California, which reports that figures show that motor touring in this section will increase at least 40 per cent over that of any previous season.

Letter inquiries from motorists for road information have averaged approximately 5000 each month since the first of this year, reports the touring bureau of the auto club, which represents an increase in letters from Southern California motorists of 40 per cent over those of the first four months of 1925. The record gain of 50 per cent in letters from eastern motorists, requesting information on roads to this section and other points in the west, also is noted for the first parts of the two years.

Every section of Southern California will benefit during the unprecedented touring season now at hand, it is held. Every scenic region and vacation ground in the southern counties is included among the destinations of the thousands of motoring pleasure seekers, according to the touring bureau, and it is indicated that the beaches and mountain resorts will have to care for capacity crowds.

Anaheim Shop Is Sold to S. A. Men

Cramer and Mills, automobile painters, 509 East Fourth street, have purchased "The Duo Shop," operated at 327 South Los Angeles street, Anaheim, by Willits and Hochuli. It was announced today. C. A. Cramer will have charge of the Anaheim shop.

GENERAL ROAD CONDITIONS

By Auto Club of Southern California May 20

The motoring route between Lompoc and Point Conception has been closed by private owners of the property.

With the opening of new pavement over Telephone road, Telegraph road has been closed for reconstruction work.

Motorists will find a temporary bridge in use on the El Centro-San Diego road, about six miles west of El Centro, with a new bridge under construction over the drainage canal.

Widening of the state highway between Whitewater river and Edom, in Riverside county, will soon be contracted for.

Good road conditions generally will be found on the General's highway into Sequoia National park, although the north fork road again has been closed.

Surfacing of the Tuba pass national forest highway, located partly within the Tahoe national forest, over a stretch of approximately 15 miles, between Gold Lake Junction and Sattley, is a new project of the state bureau of public roads.

REALTORS WILL BE STEAK BAKE GUESTS

The Santa Ana Realty board yesterday completed plans for its steak bake party at Hewes Park, Wednesday night, when D. Eymann Huff will superintend preparations of the dinner.

J. R. Gabbert, state real estate commissioner, will be a special guest at the meeting and it is expected that officials of the California Real Estate association will be present.

City Attorney Z. B. West Jr., also will be present. City and state license problems of realtors will be one of the feature discussions at the dinner. It is asserted that there are in Santa Ana men engaged in selling real estate who have neither state nor city license.

Members of the board here next week will assist Newport men in directing free excursions over Newport harbor to acquaint with the harbor those who may be sufficiently interested in informing themselves to go to the beach and avail themselves of the opportunity offered by boat ride over the bay.

26-Mile Journey Completed On Exactly 3 Quarts Of Fuel

Once more has the reputation of the "Scotch" for frugality been sustained, this time by an economy run of colorful character, made with Macmillan gasoline.

Twenty-six miles on exactly three quarts!

Such was the high gas mileage average made with the Scottish plaid painted Macmillan powered Star car, which made the "stinky run" between Long Beach city hall and the "auto salon" of the Valencia Orange show, Anaheim.

Starting from Long Beach with but one gallon of Macmillan gasoline—in a visible extra tank on the running board—the tank still contained exactly a quart when the trip was completed.

Scribe Measures Gas
This fact is attested to by R. S. "Doc" Wetherbee, Long Beach newspaperman, who measured the gas at the start and accompanied the car as observer, and by unbiased observers who checked in the car and fuel at the run's finish. The latter were Dr. W. A. Johnston and George W. Reid, respectively president and general manager of the orange show, and Lotus Loudon, Anaheim newspaper editor.

The car was a strictly stock car and was piloted by a novice driver—Miss Elita Thompson, prize winning beauty, known as the "Clear Lake Beach Peach."

Miss Thompson was garbed in Scottish kilts. Bob MacGregor, veteran Highland Scottish piper, played bagpipe music along the way and at the start and finish. The car was painted in true Macmillan tartan plaid colors and bore the mystic Macmillan Gaelic word, "Cuileann."

The entire run—jointly advertising the "Scotch" mile-saving characteristics of Macmillan gasoline and the California Valencia Orange show attractions—was spectacular.

Have Official Escort
The run to Anaheim was lent added attraction by the sirens of the escorting motorcycle officers and the wild strains of the bagpipes. A cheering crowd in Anaheim surrounded the Macmillan-powered Star and inspected the glass tank, still containing a full quart of fuel. The start was made at 1 p. m.; the Valencia show reached just before 2.

UNDERWRITERS ENTER BATTLE WAGED AGAINST WILD DRIVERS

Members National Bureau Ordered to Work Hand In Hand with Officials

EDITOR PRAISES INSURANCE MOVE

Always-Right Type of Operator Responsible for High Rate of Collisions

BY HORACE FINE

Automobile Editor Register
Insurance companies have entered the war against reckless automobile drivers and it is the opinion of underwriters that operation of the companies will be most effective in reducing the number of automobile accidents and in eliminating irresponsible drivers.

According to C. W. McNaught, secretary and manager of the HORACE FINE

Orange County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company, the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters has decreed that in the future its members will work hand in hand with state motor vehicle commissioners in a war on unfit drivers.

In the future, when licensees have been revoked by duly authorized public officials, those persons will be unable to obtain automobile insurance through any of the companies in the national bureau. It is an established fact, according to officials of the bureau, that many serious accidents are caused by criminals and careless motorists who continue to operate even after their licenses have been revoked for good cause. It is the opinion of the officials that insurance companies can assist police officials in keeping reckless drivers off the roads by refusing to grant them the right to financial protection in the event of accident.

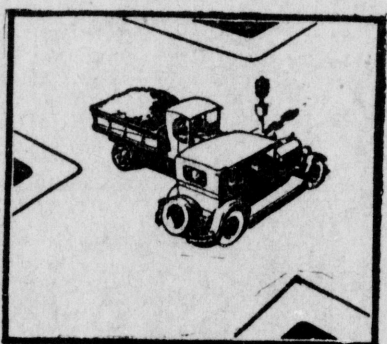

Warned Against Repeaters
Co-incidental with the announcement by McNaught came an assertion by Mac Robbins, Santa Ana underwriter, that agents were being warned every where against "repeaters," that is, men who have full coverage insurance who have frequent accidents. An insured operator is classified as a "repeater" after he has had the third collision accident.

There is no doubt but that the "repeater" is largely responsible for the high loss ratios, which, in the final analysis, means increased rates to all automobile owners. It is pointed out that this is not fair to the careful driver and agents are urged to carefully look into all reported collision losses and endeavor to eliminate the speedy, indifferent, nervous, careless and "always right" drivers from this form of protection.

Commenting on observations and investigations made by insurance companies, Robbins said that it had been revealed that the "always right" type of driver is as much responsible for high collision rates as the reckless driver.

It is easy for the underwriters

THERE ARE TIMES WHEN ONLY A MARMON WILL DO

"WHEN your salesman sold me my Marmon and emphasized that the running boards were of heavy steel, hot-riveted to the frame, I thought it was just a 'selling-point,'" writes a prominent Michigan owner. "A few days ago, however, my wife had an experience in which she owes her life to your company's foresight in building these running boards just as they do. A truck hit the car with terrific force, spinning it around three times. The left running board bore the full brunt of the blow. Aside from being badly shocked, my wife was absolutely unharmed. The car remained in an upright position, and the body wasn't even scratched." Marmon is the only car with a patented, shock-resisting type of frame, with built-in steel running boards, or side bumpers.

What is a Bargain?

WHAT is a bargain? Is it a Packard at the right price or is it any car at a low price? Is the final answer in the first cost or in the final cost? What is the difference between a bargain and a "snap"?

Does a cut mean a low net price or a high list price? Where is the real bottom in price cutting? Can goods be sold for less than a price that is just to everybody?

Sombody has to pay for everything. What you get for nothing is a gift or it is good for nothing. We have made the price on Packard cars commensurate with the goods delivered and no higher.

The Packard buyer does not pay for the "Packard reputation." It is because he pays for the Packard car—just that, no more and no less—that there is a Packard reputation.

We might put that reputation on the bargain counter. How long would there be a bargain, a reputation or a Packard?

We are in a permanent business. The only way we can live and thrive is to deliver the right goods at the right price. Too much bargain or too much profit would throttle us out of being. You can stop a motor with too little gas or too much. And reputation, the electric spark, won't fire a dishonest mixture.

When the established price is cut, something comes off—profit, quality or service. When you are offered a car at a cut price, find out what comes off.

You don't have to be a good "dicker" in order to buy a Packard car. Packard cars are sold exclusively through Packard dealers, all of whom render Packard service by the same Packard standards and the price is ALWAYS and to EVERYBODY exactly the same.

We wish to draw your attention to the splendid program to be broadcast simultaneously by KFI and KPO from 9 to 10, Saturday, May 29th, presented by this firm in conjunction with other California dealers.

Letter from State Board of Health Verifies Statements of "Register" and City Officials and Refutes Contradictory Claims and Theories.

Mr. S. J. JACKMAN
Box No. 104,
Santa Ana, Calif.

DEAR SIR:

Your letter of May 8, 1926, in reference to the joint outfall sewer action by this board, has been referred to me for reply. The board at its Aug. 18, 1925, meeting took the following action, after recommendation by the writer in his report on the matter, for an extension of the line:

"That at the meeting of the board there were present representatives of the various participating cities; that you are herewith informed that the state board of health has formally suspended until June 1, 1927, the permit heretofore granted to the City of Santa Ana on Jan. 8, 1924, and subsequently amended in the interests of the various participating cities, and that by June 1, 1927, the state board of health will require that the sewerage shall be properly disposed of so as not to create a nuisance or menace to health."

"You are further advised that the bathing beach two miles on each side of the present outfall, with limits to be extended or reduced by the bureau of sanitary engineering from time to time to cover the zone containing 10 or more B. Coli per cubic centimeter, has been quarantined, and the same shall be effectively placarded within the quarantine zone."

I note that you have a question in your mind about the wisdom of discharging sewage into the ocean, when it might be treated and used for irrigation purposes on land. Treatment plants of this type cost about $4.50 per person. If you would therefore, take the population which you estimate would be served ten years from now and multiply it by $4.50 you would have the total bond issue which would be required at the present time. This bond issue would not be staggeringly high; however, the main concern would be with the cost of operation. The city of Pasadena is operating an activated sludge plant and the total cost of operation is now $52 per million gallons of sewerage treated. This is equivalent to about $17 per acre foot. It is quite possible that the cost of operation under more advantageous conditions might be reduced to $15 per million gallons. This is practically $12 per acre foot. When you take into account that you must also build reservoirs and distributing pipe lines, the cost per acre foot of treated sewage is extremely high, at least so far as it is beneficial for use on land in the vicinity you have in mind.

You say there are several miles of sand dunes lying directly south of the Santa Ana river. This is merely a narrow, sandy beach, the portion directly below having been recently subdivided, and there are now a dozen or more shacks on it. This sand is not adapted for agricultural development. I have grave doubts as to whether you can find sufficient land for the proper disposition of sewage, however treated, with the finances available.

Personally, I believe the time will come when some private company will venture to treat the sewage, convey it to remote points and derive revenue from the sale of the water for irrigation purposes. However, this involves a risk and venture which the cities at this time are not justified in taking. Even when such treatment works are installed, it will be advantageous to have an ocean outfall to so dispose of the water when it is not required for irrigation purposes.

The plan of ocean disposal is by far the cheapest method and will work in with future developments.

Yours very truly,
R. F. GOUDY,
Resident Engineer.

Children Plan Second L. B. Play

LAGUNA BEACH, May 22—The children's theater movement in Laguna Beach received its first impetus, when the children presented a little fairy tale in one act at the Community theater. The parts were all taken by children; the plot of the play and the costumes were worked out by them, and the songs and dances were put under their direction. The new theater is for children and their own shows. It is to develop self expression in them. To do this, even, the scenery used in their productions will be painted by children. There is an advisory board consisting of five women who help the children with their costumes and with anything else demanding mature attention. But it is all to be done under the direction of the children. The board of advisors consists of Mrs. William A. Griffith, Miss Marie Madden, Mrs. Elsie Rider, Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston and Miss Josephine Hills. These women will be sort of a last court of appeal. The next production is scheduled for the middle of July and is to be a little play woven around a vegetable garden. The characters are to represent the "Children of Mother Earth."

The first show put on by the children was played in a flower garden and the children represented wild flowers that had crept into a beautiful garden. The costumes were as nearly like the flowers the children were supposed to be as clever workmanship could make them. The stage was a bower of flowers. Dances and songs were interspersed with the dialogue. The production was an elaborate one.

Laguna Women
Enjoy Program

LAGUNA BEACH, May 22—Mrs. Arnold Peek and Madame Redon, of Santa Ana, were the soloists Friday afternoon at the Women's clubhouse. Mrs. Peek also played Madame Redon's accompaniments. The artists were introduced by Mrs. Bertha Mott, chairman of music, who in turn was introduced by the chairman of programs, Mrs. J. Howard Sheridan.

In the first group of songs which Madame Redon sang were "The Treat," by La Forge a delightful Italian song with a lilting tune, and an especially heavy number, "Death, Let Me In."

Mrs. Peek then played a Spanish number, "The Gypsy." There followed three songs, including Debussy's "Mandolin."

Mrs. Peek's next solo number was a heavy composition full of great resounding chords that was followed by an encore, "Knitting Needles."

"Dawn" was Madame Redon's next selection and it was followed by Mrs. Beach's "The Years at the Spring."

When the recital was finished, the president of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Ada E. Purpus, asked the club members to meet the artists.

FEATURES OF NEW CHRYSLER POINTED OUT

The Chrysler "60," the new line recently announced by Chrysler, will make 22 miles to the gallon of gasoline easily, according to Paul Clark, manager for Hancock Brothers, local dealers.

Clark said that the speed of the car is indicated by the model number, which means 60 miles an hour. The manager pointed out some of the features of the new car, as follows:

Advanced six-cylinder L-head engine, perfectly balanced, with shimless bearings and seven-bearing crankshaft, insuring smoothness, steady pull at low speeds and economy in its consumption of gasoline and oil. As in other Chrysler models, the crankshaft is balanced both statically and dynamically.

Rapid, efficient development of full power through the science of thermo-dynamics—an engineering achievement of the first rank; absolutely vibrationless power at all speeds; attainment of 1 horse power and a speed of 60 miles and more miles per hour by an engine of only 180 cubic inches displacement; Chrysler hydraulic four-wheel brakes; full pressure oiling to all bearings; impulse neutralizer, not a balancer, but a device that absorbs the natural impulse reactions common to all internal combustion engines; manifold heat control; levelers, front and rear, to eliminate all road shocks; elimination of practically all friction at the junction of moving parts; filters through which both oil and air must pass, removing the impurities from both; semi-automatic plus manual spark control.

Knives and scissors sharpened. Hawley's, opposite post office.

Community Club Presents Three Plays at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, May 22—The Community club players, under the direction of George Dunham, put on three one-act plays Friday evening in the clubhouse. Two were by Lord Dunsany, "Fame and the Poet" and "If Shakespeare Lived Today." The third was "Rocking Chairs," by Alfred Kreymborg.

In "Fame and the Poet," the three characters were taken by William Schleicher, L. F. Mallow and Borghild Stephens. In "Rocking Chairs," the second play on the bill, the three women were played by Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston, Mrs. Alice Wakelee and Miss Anna Lea. "If Shakespeare Lived Today" was acted by George Dunham, Robert Parker, George Hurrell and Edward M. DeAnna.

The scenic effects were kept simple and there was no striving after effect by means of properties. Mr. Dunham, who is a Columbia college man, having been a member of Dr. Baker's "Workshop 47" there, was effective in the role of an irascible old English man of the nobility, who is much wrought up over the admission of a nobody to his club, William Shakespeare by name. Robert Parker is the second edition of the first. George Hurrell was the secretary of the club who is called to account for not being able to give some information about the man Shakespeare.

Edward M. DeAnna was the other clubman who had never heard of the man. This satire by Lord Dunsany is cleverly adapted to exploitation by amateur players and it was carefully thought out by the director.

"Fame and the Poet" is the story by Lord Dunsany of the poet who becomes famous only to find out that fame rests on such slender threads as the color he prefers, the brand of tobacco he smokes and what he eats for breakfast.

"Rocking Chairs" allowed opportunities for clever acting. The dressing of the parts was especially good.

Do you know why BUICK 4-wheel brakes are mechanical

Buick 4-wheel brakes are built on the same sound mechanical principle as the two-wheel brakes you always have used.

The brake on the outside front wheel releases when turning a corner. The outside front wheel needs to turn in a larger circle to avoid skidding and Buick brakes let it turn.

And the operating parts of Buick brakes are steel drop forgings.

For safety's sake, and for easier driving, pick Buick and Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes.

Drive a PEERLESS and know!

KNOW car value unsurpassed! Value—sheer value—is the outstanding thing about a Peerless. You'll find this true no matter which model you drive.

Take the Six-80 for instance. Note the beauty of its lines! Try its power. See how roomy and comfortable each model is from the Sport Phaeton at $1740 to the De Luxe Sedan at $2140.

Or take the Six-72—a car that combines tremendous power with remarkable freedom from vibration. Thoussands pronounce it "the most rugged Six in the world." Yet it's not expensive. You can buy it for as little as $2275.

And for the very peak of automobile value can you imagine anything to compare with the famous 90-V-type Eight-69 at $3425 to $4235.

Yes—it's value that makes Peerless stand out from the mass. Drive one of these great cars. The Peerless dealer will send any one of them to your home for you to drive.

to cancel any known reckless irresponsible risk, but Robbins pointed out that companies are urged to worry along with the "repeater" who may be merchant, lawyer or banker and who, otherwise, are recognized as an Al risk.

Always Protect Yourself

When you are out on your Sunday pleasure run tomorrow, just observe how many accidents you avoid by not taking the right-of-way rightfully belonging to you. Let the "always right" driver have the right-of-way, but just check on the number of accidents you avert by guarding against the other fellow's wrongful quick cut-in into the traffic line, by being alert to the incorrect traffic signals of others, and so on down the line of the many known causes of motor accidents. Always the safe way to drive is to protect yourself against possible error by the other fellow. The sense of anticipating a possible action by the other driver is a grand possession and one that too many drivers do not possess.

In my opinion, the insurance men have taken a step in the right direction, and I hope they will carry through the policy to its fullest possible extent. Drivers are frequently reckless because they have a feeling of more or less security when they carry full coverage for their cars. It is a regrettable, but a very patent fact, that too many drivers think more of possible damage to their cars than they do of the safety of their passengers.

SCRIBE FINED $400 ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Walter Churchill, Los Angeles newspaperman, charged with assault on the person of Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, on the state high, near El Toro, on February 16, at a time when McClellan is alleged to have attempted to arrest him, today was given a six months' suspended jail sentence and fined $400 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court.

Churchill has been ill in Los Angeles, necessitating postponement of his trial here from time to time. He was represented in court today by Attorney Joe Burke.

A plea of guilty was entered by the defendant.

Picking of Yucca Blooms Violation Of California Law

The plucking of gorgeous yucca blossoms is against the law in California and those guilty of the act may be prosecuted in the state courts.

This is the warning issued this week by foresters to persons who frequent the outdoors and especially to former residents of the east and middle west not acquainted with the California law in the matter.

The last arrest for picking the blossoms, it was said, was in Los Angeles county, on May 21, when foresters arrested Joe Park, Japanese gardener, living between Monrovia and Glendora.

Violation of the yucca picking law is a misdemeanor, according to officers.

APRIL MOTOR SALES SHOW LARGE GAIN

and when compared to the 17,106 registered a year ago in April, we find an increase of 1938, or 11 per cent, which might be said is considered a very healthy as well as a normal increase.

"In splitting the state totals of 19,044 into the two different sections, known as the north and south, we find 8869 registered to the north and 10,175 to the southern 11 counties.

"The northern portion of the state in April of 1925 registered 7921 and the southern counties, 9155. This leaves the sales increase of both ends of the section very close to each other, namely, the north 948, and the south 930.

"The northern percentage increase amounted to 11 per cent, while that of the south is 10 per cent.

"Commercial cars fared not so well, for their state totals show an increase of 104 sales, or 6 per cent.

"The north dropped six sales behind last year's record. Southern California increased its commercial car sales by 110 sales, or 14 per cent."

Late Appearance In Court Results In Jail Sentence

Failure to appear in court after being given a speed ticket by state traffic officers will be a quick way for the motorist to get a jail sentence in the future—especially if the motorist is told to appear in Judge John Landell's court, in San Juan Capistrano.

This information was received today from the Mission city, along with the announcement that P. S. Arnold, Los Angeles, will start a five-day jail sentence in the county jail tomorrow for failure to appear on time.

Arnold, charged with speeding 50 miles an hour by Pat Hurd, state officer, on February 15, was rather late in putting in his appearance in court. When he appeared yesterday, Judge Landell fined him $45 on the speeding charge and sent him to jail for being late.

Justice Kenneth Morrison, Santa Ana, also will see that motorists, who fail to appear on time, get jail sentences, he said today.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE 45 YEARS OF ACTIVITY IN SANTA ANA

The 45th anniversary of the organization of the First Christian church, of Santa Ana, will be observed with a 6:30 o'clock dinner for the adults of the church in the banquet rooms of the house of worship, Sixth street and Broadway, Tuesday, June 1, according to T. D. Knights, 428 Fruit street, in charge of arrangements for the birthday anniversary celebration.

Following the dinner, there will be a short program, at which A. V. Napier will act as toastmaster. The speaker of the evening will be introduced by W. B. Williams.

Mrs. E. E. Gist, 502 West First street, the only surviving charter member of the church, is the leader of the Women's Bible class, with 300 women enrolled. The present pastor is the Rev. E. T. Porter.

Organized June 5, 1881. The First Christian church had its inception June 5, 1881, in Latimer hall, where devout Christians, calling themselves Disciples of Christ, gathered. At that meeting, the church was organized with 21 members, 12 women and nine men. Of those 21 charter members, Mrs. Gist alone remains. During the 45 years of the history of the church, Mrs. Gist has not missed a church service possible for her to attend. It is worthy of note that, during the 45 years, services have been held every Sunday, with the exception of two Sundays during the influenza epidemic, when all public gatherings were prohibited by authorities.

Latimer hall, in which the church was organized, was a small room, in a one-story building at the southeast corner of Fourth and Bush streets, where the Hervey building now stands. Santa Ana at that time was a town of about 600 population. The Rev. Dr. Carroll Kendrick, a pioneer settler of Downey, officiated when the church was organized. Among the first members of this church were many persons whose names have been prominent in the early history of the city.

Early Members of Church

Some of the names of the members follow: F. M. Gist, Wilbur Smith, Joseph A. Buckingham, C. E. Rubottom, Charles Hawkins, C. W. Humphrey, Mrs. C. W. Humphrey, Mrs. E. E. Gist, Emmett Byler, E. M. Williams, Mrs. M. E. Head, Mrs. F. Buckingham, Frank Chilton, Mrs. Frank Chilton, Mrs. Belle Tucker, Mrs. Joana Greenleaf, R. E. Strang, Ellen R. Harlan, Mrs. L. Mosbaugh, Henry Carlisle, Mrs. Annie Carlisle, Mrs. Nannie McGoffin, D. J. Twitche, Mrs. Mollie T. Ford and Mrs. H. N. Short.

After using Latimer hall for some time, the membership had grown until the church was able to rent a larger and more comfortable place and secured Good Templars hall, which had an organ as a part of its equipment. Good Templars hall was on the second floor of the two-story building originally built by William H. Spurgeon, at the southwest corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets, and used as a general merchandise store. This hall was the home of the church for many years, until the first church was built at the northeast corner of Birch and Sixth streets.

Baptized in Newport Bay

The church had no baptistry until the completion of the first church building. The early converts were baptized in Newport bay, at the old Newport landing, or in the large irrigation ditch above Orange. Later the Baptist pool, constructed in the open at the rear of the First Baptist church, corner of Church and Main streets, was used.

The new church at the corner of Sixth and Broadway was dedicated May 1, 1910. The dedication service in the morning was conducted by the Rev. A. C. Smither, of Los Angeles. Since the church was organized, the following pastors have served it: F. E. Coulter, Carroll Kendrick, T. D. Garryn, J. B. Knowles, G. R. Hand, J. H. McCulloch, J. A. Sloan, H. D. Connell, James McGuire, P. B. Hall, Joseph Lowe, R. H. Bateman, W. Bedall, F. N. Calvin, W. B. Taylor, Leander Lane, Charles A. Young, J. Cronenberg, A. F. Roadhouse, Paul E. Wright, Lloyd Darsie and F. T. Porter.

PLEASANT TRIP FOR WEEK END IS SUGGESTED

A week end trip to Julian, in the back country of San Diego, offers many scenic possibilities, according to Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Auto Club of Southern California.

Heidt says that pavement will be found complete on this road, with the exception of short detours north of Oceanside.

The coast road is left at Oceanside and the road turns east, following the San Luis Rey river to Bonsall; thence south to Escondido, where pavement is reached. An excellent decomposed gravel road is followed down the San Pasqual grade to Ramona. From Ramona to Bellena is fair, although somewhat rocky in places, followed by paved highway past Witch creek to San Ysabel. Between San Ysabel and Wymola school, the road is gravelled and then paved to Julian.

In making the return journey, an optional route is available from San Ysabel and over good gravelled road of decomposed granite past the Fishview reservoir, the largest in Southern California, through Warner's ranch; continuing from ranch through Oak Grove to Aguanga, then over the St. Johns grade to Hemet. Pavement will then be found from Hemet by way of Ethnash, and Perris to Riverside; thence to Santa Ana by way of Corona and the Santa Ana canyon.

East Twentieth street, Santa Ana, accompanied by $1, the round-trip fare, not later than next Monday, May 24.

The Joyous Satisfaction That Only Cadillac Can Give

The young man who drove his first car yesterday is no fresher in his enthusiasm than the owner of a new, 90-degree, eight-cylinder Cadillac who has driven the Cadillac year after year for a dozen years.

The one extracts joy from all the delusions of inexperience—the other from the ripened realization that all of his experience has brought to him nothing so fine as this new, 90-degree, eight-cylinder Cadillac.

The Cadillac market is bubbling over everywhere with delight in this new expression of Cadillac fitness for fine manufacture—and growing in sales volume as no Cadillac before ever inspired it to grow. New hosts of owners are coming to the 90-degree Cadillac because a new buying spirit is abroad in the land—a spirit which has weighed its own less happy experience against the everlasting satisfaction of the Cadillac owners—and found that other experience lacking.

It seems strange to say at this late date that Cadillac has come into its own—but it is true because the experience of years has shown to thousands that the oft-repeated promise of equality with Cadillac has not been fulfilled.

All the millions of car owners in America have always admitted that their own private estimate of the last word in motoring was Cadillac—Now thousands are acting upon this conviction because they fully realize at last that there is no substitute for the deep satisfaction of Cadillac ownership.

There's Something About the Playboy

EVERYBODY knows that the Jordan Playboy started the roadster craze all over again in this country.

It was built for red-blooded Americans who never grow old.

It dominated its field—and, of course, was imitated.

But there has always been something distinctive about the Playboy—something in its lines—something in its charm—something in the way it carries itself along the road which makes it the leader among the style sport cars in America.

It's an eight, of course, with the smooth flowing power that only an eight can give.

It's compact—easy to handle—easy to park—turns on a dime.

Of course, there's all the speed you dare to use—the Playboy will always have that.

And it is priced well within your reach.

Of course, there won't be nearly enough of them to go 'round.

Orders should be placed immediately.

DANGER LURKS IN POISON OAK:
REMEDY GIVENAlong about this time of year—
Don't pick those glossy, green leaves—Unless you want a first-class membership in the poison oak club!
This is the advice of health authorities and especially is it the suggestion of those who have been stung by the attractive plants.The botanical or professional name of poison oak is "rhus divar-siloba," which may or may not mean more than the plain English.
Poison oak is sometimes called poison ivy.Many a happy hiker has wandered into the open spaces to commune with nature, only to come back with a first-class case of this plant poisoning.Description of Plant.The plant has a three-leaf foliage.
It greatly resembles the leaf of the oak tree. Its color is bright and lustrous, at this season glossy and vibrant looking, with a tinge of red showing through the stems and stalks of the plants.Cures of poison oak are given in a bulletin by the U. S. public health service. After exposure to poison oak, the bulletin warns, the best prevention of inflammation is a thorough washing with laundry soap.Running water is preferred, but if there is no running water, the exposed surfaces of the skin should be washed in several changes of water with heavy lather.Alcohol may be used to wash surface, but only by dabbing on with a piece of cotton, dipped in fresh alcohol, as alcohol spread over the skin will also dilute and spread the poison. Each piece of cotton dipped in alcohol should be thrown away after once touching the skin.Gasoline Remedy Offered.Application of gasoline to the hands and face, when going into territory where poison oak grows, or after exposure, is another remedy recommended by many doctors and woodmen.Simple home remedies, the bulletin says, are as good as any, unless the inflammation and irritation becomes so acute that a doctor must be called to prescribe for the unhappy poison oak victim. One or two heaping teaspoons of cooking soda or Epsom salts to a cup of water, applied locally, is suggested as a simple alternative.Application of water as hot as can be borne is one of the best mediams for relief, painful at the time, but followed by cessation of pain and itching.The best time of year to eradicate poison oak, so the experts say, is when the shoots of the plant are only a few inches above the ground, before it has a chance to spread.But when the "adult" bush is encountered, the best advice is to leave it alone.Flint Will Be At Junior
Division MeetFrank P. Flint, former U.
S. senator from California, has accepted an invitation by D. Eymann Huff, manager of the Hewes ranch, to be Huff's guest at the meeting Monday evening of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.Flint has promised Huff that he will eat at least two "twin steaks" Monday evening, his host announced.
Whether that means that Flint will eat four steaks or two halves of two steaks, which would equal one steak, is the mathematical proposition facing the ranch manager.Indications point to a record attendance of junior division members, according to Mason Yould, president of the junior division.SPANISH WAR VETERANS GO TO YOSEMITEIn order to attend the annual state convention of the United Spanish War Veterans, to be held in Yosemite National park, approximately 40 persons residing in Santa Ana will leave here today and tomorrow. The convention opens on Monday and will continue for three days.Approximately 25 members of Calumit camp, No. 25, the Santa Ana camp, have made arrangements to attend and Calumit auxiliary will send a drill team, composed of 17 members, to the convention.Many of the local members expect to make the trip by automobile.
Among the Santa Ana veterans who will attend are Charles Dixon, junior vice department commander,
a state officer; and Past Camp
Commanders Clinton Innes, Charles Waffle and Howard Wassum.Plans are being made by Yose-mite to entertain 800 members of the organization. Under the tall pines, near the falls and on the edge of Merced river, battle fought in Cuba, 25 years ago, will be discussed again and again.Movie ChatterboxMary Brian, who has been dubbed the screen's most genuine ingenue, has violated all the how-to-get-alongs in the movies.With the sublime faith and the armored naivete of an Alice in Wonderland, she is tiptoeing her way to stardom. And the prophets of filmdom assert that within five years she will be among the most important personages in pictures.Tiptoeing her way along. Always sweet and gracious, and patient as a saint. Never bold or forward.
Never throwing a tantrum. Courting no publicity. Taking orders cheerfully. Saying no unkind or catty word about anyone. Yauling not herself. Modest as the violet—which is not the official pose of Hollywood's ambitious maidens.But Not Inspired.
All this and all these, but in no wise inspired or mawkish, is 17-year-old Mary Brian, who first appeared as "Wendy" in "Peter Pan," and whose appearance in "The Street of Forgotten Men," "Behind the Front," and "The Little French Girl" are to be followed by leading roles in "Brown of Harvard" and "Beau Geste."It seems a bit incongruous that Mary, the movie violet, should have been reared on a west Texas cattle ranch where she rode with cowboys and proved very well able to take care of herself when confronted by exigencies of the open lonely prairie.But behind Mary's winsome smile and soft grey eyes reside a profound faith that she will achieve her none too modest desires. Her riding ponies galloped to her soft-spoken urge, without spur. And that's the way Mary is riding toward her movie goal—without spur.
Content to canter is she, where others gallop.Mother Tacitful, Too.
When Mary's mother—rarely tactful and unobtrusive among the mothers of movie girls—brought her to Hollywood on a vacation, she fixed a time limit for a film test.Mary never lost confidence, even when the time limit had reached its last day. On that day the Lasky organization called the unknown for "Wendy."Circumstance simply hasn't the heart to affront the cheerful expectancy of this Brian maid. And recently, without a peep from Mary, Lasky more than doubled her salary.Perhaps some other little wall-flower on the outskirts of filmland may be heartened by Mary Brian's fortune, though girls of her type seldom get a hearing in the surge of more forward candidates.Poland is holding a series of national exhibitions called "City Apartments," which include displays of everything pertaining to apartments, from building material to furnishings.Perfection of glass making in this country has caused such a depression in the glass industry of Czechoslovakia that many workers are leaving that country for France.FOR

From its very inception the unquestioned leader in modern motoring performance the Chrysler "70" gains, at the new lower prices, even greater pre-eminence in value as well as in quality.Seventy miles and more per hour with silky smoothness; a flashing pick-up; amazing economy; magical ease of handling; un-hydraulic brakes can give; joined to a coman enduring worth proved in tens ofthousands of miles of driving by thousands and thousands of owners—These Chrysler "70" superiorities, absolutely unchanged, even at the sensationally inherent fineness of that Chrysler quality of design, materials and craftsmanship which masterful performance, ease of operation and maintenance, from reliability and economy.These qualities cannot be revealed by any other test than actual performance over long periods of time and in the hands of every type of user.Hudson holds first advantage because of its patented Super-Six—the world's most famous motor. More than 800,000 have been built by Hudson under its exclusive principle. For 11 years it has been outstanding because of distinctive smoothness, wide flexibility, power, speed, and reliability.Hudson is easy to steer. Its power range is so great that gear shifting is lessened, and theriding action is so well arranged that long hours at the wheel are not tiring.Economy is found in low operating and maintenance cost.These are the qualities that make genuine satisfaction. Upon such a chassis is mounted the coach. It gives all closed car comforts.

It is sturdy, beautiful in line, and complete in every practical detail. Its sale has exceeded that of any closed car priced above $1,000.
That production has led to greater economy and much lower prices. It has permitted many improvements in chassis and body.So today's Hudson Coach is not only the best ever built. It also is priced lower than ever before.R. W. TOWNSEND MOTOR CO.

DEMPSEY THINKS TUNNEY WILL BE NEXT FOE

BILLY EVANS
Says
PITCHING WISDOM

I doubt if there is a smarter pitcher in the American league than Urban Shocker of the New York Giants.

Shocker's pitching repertoire includes everything and he mixes the varied assortment up most deftly. "Pitch to the small end of the bat," is Shocker's favorite bit of advice on how to succeed as a pitcher.

In other words, Shocker simply means pitch inside, make the batter hit the ball on the handle rather than at the end of the bat.

It is practically impossible to get distance to any ball that is pitched inside, to the small end of the bat.

WAIT 'EM OUT

With the slowing down of the baseball, the importance of a good leadoff man becomes all the greater.

In the old days he was a player possessing the uncanny ability to wait out a pitcher, ultimately drawing a base on balls.

Such a player was not necessarily a good hitter, but usually he was fast and also was an adept at the bunting game.

In Max Bishop the Philadelphia Athletics have one of the best leadoff players in the big show.

The other day in a game with St. Louis he came within one ball of equaling the American league record of five bases on balls. I happened to be calling balls and strikes in that game.

After getting four passes he worked the count to three balls and two strikes on his fifth final appearance at the plate, only to have me decide the pitch a strike.

MANY UPSETS

Never in the history of baseball has the game experienced such upsets as have featured the play this year.

Take the case of the Philadelphia Athletics, generally picked to be a pennant-contender from the spring cry of "Play ball."

The Mackmen lost 10 of the first 14 games played, then started a winning spurt that brought their mark to the .500 point, 12 victories against as many defeats.

In figuring the Athletics a pennant-contender, the pitching ability of Rommel, Gray and Harris was given much consideration.

Yet in the first 12 victories scored by Mack's team, his trio of star twirlers turned in only two wins.

FATAL FAULT

A weakness around second base, either on the part of the player guarding that sack or the shortstop, is a fatal fault to pennant chances.

Every pennant-winning ball club in the history of the game has featured a snappy combination around the keystone sack.

Inexperience in big league ways is a big handicap to players holding down such positions. Both the New York and Detroit clubs of the American league have recruits playing the all-important positions.

No matter how great the ability of the player, one cannot expect him to step into the difficult position of shortstop or second base and deliver in his first year.

While inexperience may handicap both clubs some this year, they are preparing for the future.

HAUSER'S COMEBACK

The belief that First Baseman Joe Hauser will be able to play that position all season for the Athletics has done more to revive the spirits of the club after a bad start than any one other thing.

For a time it seemed as if Hauser would be fortunate if able to divide the work at first base with Jim Poole, but since the opening of the season has put it to every test, including the most dangerous form of the hook slide, with no ill effects.

Now that Hauser has recovered confidence in himself, he has started to hit and the club appears to have taken on the same optimistic angle.

The loss of a player, who can hit like Joe Hauser, is a terrific handicap to a ball club with pennant hopes.

Although Earl Sheely, White Sox first baseman, hit three doubles and a homer in five times at bat, Boston staged a three run rally in the ninth which gave them the game, 3 to 7.

JACK TRAINING FOR LONG BOUT EXPERT CLAIMS

Champion Realizes Gene's Advantages and Works to Go Full Fifteen Rounds

By JOE WILLIAMS
HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., May 22.—New York tells you there is some uncertainty concerning Jack Dempsey's next opponent. It may be Gene Tunney, it may be Harry Wills.

Dempsey tells you the same thing, and adds, "I don't care which one it is."

But watch Dempsey train. Listen to him talk and study his reactions to any reference to Tunney as distinguished from Wills and you reach a very definite conclusion of your own.

Namely and to-wit: That Dempsey is positive his opponent in the September comeback will be Tunney. Further, that he is training with the specific thought of building a defense and perfecting an attack for just one man—Tunney.

Knows Tunney Advantages

Dempsey realizes the trump cards Tunney holds are youth, power and endurance. It is not going to be easy to push him over if, indeed, any pushing over at all is to be done. The assignment may require a vigorous and prolonged effort.

Dempsey is not training as a fighter would who anticipated a brief, cyclonic battle, such as the champion had with Luis Firpo, when he won in two rounds. Rather, his routine is designed to meet marathon or long-distance needs. In other words, a limit fight.

Of great significance in this connection is Dempsey's habit of doing road work with both arms held on a level with his ears. Instead of jogging along with arms at his side he holds them in hitting position and goes through the movements of shadow boxing.

The purpose of this, obviously, is to strengthen the shoulders. The longer a fight goes the greater the strain on the shoulders. Arms that were feathery in weight in early rounds become leaden-like after the tenth or twelfth round. A fighter unprepared to meet this burden runs tragic risks.

An even more reliable guide to Dempsey's private action as to his next opponent is the alertness with which he greets any mention of Tunney or the fights which Tunney has had recently.

Likes Boxers Who Walt

"I understand he is a counter fighter?" commented the champion. "I hope he is. I like to fight fighters who wait for me to lead."

Someone had told him John Risko, the Cleveland heavyweight, had knocked Tunney down and punched him around. He seemed pleased to believe the report was true and seemed just a bit chagrined to learn it wasn't.

It so happened I had seen the Risko-Tunney fight. So interested was Dempsey in getting the facts of that fight that it was necessary for me to recount the whole story for him round by round as well as my memory permitted.

"Well, Risko gave him all he wanted anyway, didn't he?" insisted the champion, apparently determined to get some reassurance out of that conviction.

And, in passing, it might be mentioned that Risko did precisely that—he gave Tunney all he wanted.

CARPENTIER IS AWARDED DRAW WITH HUFFMAN

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 22.—Georges Carpentier, "the orchid man," has bloomed again but the pugilistic flower of France has lost most of his strength and color.

Last night the gorgeous Georges who once scaled the light heavyweight heights, returned to the ring at Madison Square Garden against Eddie Huffman, the Pacific Coast boxer, and the decision was a draw.

The bout was a draw even though Carpentier's once famous right was no longer in his repertoire. All the Frenchman has now is ring cunning, courage and a dramatic gesture. It was the gesture which won him almost continuous ovations from the fans.

Huffman's youth and strength were such that he might have had a decided edge on Georges. But the veteran outsmarted the California boy and at times made Eddie look positively silly. The "orchid kid" held his right in reserve as though he were merely waiting for the proper moment to loose its power and end the bout.

As a matter of fact, when Carpentier did swing the right hand that did so much damage five and six years ago, it looked better than it was. Huffman was but slightly jarred and each time it stung Eddie into a better grade of boxing.

WHEN BUBBLING OVER MADE KENTUCKY BUBBLE OVER

Kentucky will be happy for another year. A Kentucky-bred and Kentucky-owned horse has won the Kentucky Derby, America's greatest race. The photo above shows the amazingly easy manner in which Bubbling Over, one of the E. R. Bradley entries in the race, galloped to victory. Five lengths behind is his stablemate, Bagenbaggage, who beat out Rockman.

WILLARD CLASS TEAMS BATTLE IN TITLE PLAY

By FLETCHER BUXTON

Indoor baseball has stepped into the limelight at the Francis E. Willard Junior high school following the close of a successful season of baseball.

Although no schedule has been outlined as yet, there have been some peppy "challenge" games. Thursday night, the 6A class, of the high nine grade accepted a challenge issued by the 6B class and the A's gave their rivals all they were looking for, winning 15 to 12 count.

With the 4Bs making errors continuously the winners were never pushed to their utmost ability.

Although Glen Rink, the losers' pitcher, did some fine work on the mound, he was unable to win alone. Rutledge also played well for the 4B class.

Next Monday, the strong 6A class tackles the heavy hitting 6C class. If the A's win this game, they will probably have little trouble with their other opponents.

Lineup for Friday's game:

4C Class	4B Class
Johnston, C.....	Hilgashi
Cummings, J.....	Rink
Haskell, J.....	Quintana
Barry, J.....	Parker
Gross, J.....	Rutledge
McCoy, J.....	Brown

WASHINGTON PICKED TO DEFEAT AGGIES

SEATTLE, Wash., May 22.—The University of Washington track team was the strong favorite today as it went out against the aggregation of "Dad" Butler's Oregon Aggies.

Cool, threatening weather dimmed somewhat the prospects of any brilliant make.

Washington students were waiting to see whether Jimmy Charteris can come back to winning for in the $80 yard dash, after losing to Richardson at Palo Alto in the conference finals last week. That was the first time Charteris ever saw a runner cross the tape ahead of him in his own race.

Frank McLaughlin's home run in the second frame, bringing in Pete Bushman ahead of him, featured Laguna Beach will meet the Peek Market team of Santa Ana in an exhibition game next Tuesday night at Laguna Beach. The last time the teams met Laguna Beach won, 4 to 2.

STATE RING BOARD TO PROBE CHARGE THAT JOHNSON-FUENTE BOUT AT VERNON WAS "FIXED"

LOS ANGELES, May 22.—Charges by Louis Almgren, state athletic commissioner from San Diego, that the John Lester Johnson-Tony Fuente fight at Vernon several weeks ago was a "faked fight" will be investigated.

Almgren claimed before the State Athletic commission, in session here, that Johnson deliberately fouled Fuente. After he laid his evidence before the board, it was decided that an investigator would be appointed.

According to Chairman Seth Strelinger the negro heavyweight was fined $350 of a $500 purse for fouling and was later indefinitely suspended from the California ring.

The commissioners decided three other matters. They voted to refuse Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, the right of boxing in California, barred Fred ("Windy") Winsor, manager, for life because he recently hit an inspector, and denied applications for licenses from three proposed San Francisco clubs.

LAGUNA BEACH WINS FROM GARDEN GROVE

Teams Tuning Up for Race In Orange Co. League Beginning Next Friday

Hitting the twisters of Gupilli to all parts of the field for 10 safeties and a total of 15 bases, the Laguna Beach contenders for the Orange County Indoor Baseball league title defeated Garden Grove, 7 to 4, in an exhibition game at Laguna Beach last night. Al Bushman held the visitors to four one-base swats and but for four errors, one of which he made himself, would have shut out the team that will open the league season in Laguna Beach next Friday. Garden Grove defeated Laguna Beach at Garden Grove last week. Laguna Beach had two substitutes and Garden Grove tried out a new pitcher.

Frank McLaughlin's home run in the second frame, bringing in Pete Bushman ahead of him, featured Laguna Beach will meet the Peek Market team of Santa Ana in an exhibition game next Tuesday night at Laguna Beach. The last time the teams met Laguna Beach won, 4 to 2.

LEGION IS 4-1 CONQUEROR OF CHAMBER TEAM

In their final practice encounter before the official opening next Friday of the Orange County Indoor Baseball league, the Santa Ana American Legion team took the measure of the Chamber of Commerce, 4 to 1, at Lincoln park last night. Several regulars from both teams were not in the lineups.

"Eeny" Wilcox, pitching for the Legionnaires, held the Chamber of Commerce team to four well scattered hits. Bryan, the first man to face him, singled and scored but Wilcox was in danger only once after that in the seventh when Cole tripled to left and was thrown out at the plate trying for a homer.

Hill's hit scored Romo in the third for the Legion and the World war team scored two more in the sixth on Lutz's single, Bell's triple and Hitt's wild pitch. An error and infield outs scored Lutz in the fourth.

FRANCIS QUIMET—VALUE OF CONCENTRATION

Do you know what your worst fault as a golfer is? You may think it's slicing, or lifting your head, or stabbing your putts, but you are all wrong. The average golfer, the vast majority of linksmen and linkswomen, those who shoot the various courses of this country rarely under 90 strokes and from that low medal on up to well above 100, all suffer from a similar complaint—lack of concentration. They do not try to reason things out for themselves.

Sometimes I think that our entire system of golf is wrong. We urge players to practice and to take many lessons. All of which will do a great deal for one's game.

But did you ever stop to figure out just what proportion of golfers who belong to your home club have time to do these things?

They take up golf for exercise. They play with their friends. Occasionally they get into a tournament and 99 times out of a hundred they get a thorough trimming from some fellow who has had the time to learn something about golf.

DON'T PUT ALL BLAME ON STATIC

By GEORGE BRITT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, May 22.—It doesn't take a thunderstorm to cause static. But to learn just how small may be the source of a great roar from off the antenna, listen to W. E. Downey, technical radio expert of the department of commerce.

"The thermostat on an automatic oil-burning furnace caused almost an absolute blank for reception for five blocks around," says Downey. "Our supervisors have located similar interference from the flasher of an electric sign over a garage, from a hotel ice machine, from family vacuum cleaners, from electric pads to warm beds, from the operating motors of X-ray elevators, from a doctor's X-ray machine.

"An old piece of tin carelessly thrown against a transformer on a 2800-volt electric line in Oklahoma was the cause of many complaints from fans in the neighborhood. As soon as it was removed, reception around there became nearly perfect. "Anything that makes a spark, giving off impulses at radio frequency, causes static. But if you hear it with your ear, it isn't doing any harm from the radio standpoint. It is the waves that go out, to be detected only by receiving instruments, that make trouble for the radio listener. You may hear a transformer on a power line boiling away like a noisy tea-kettle. You needn't blame it for static, though, because if you hear it it is harmless.

"Some of the big causes for local static are faulty connections in power lines and in city street car lines," says Downey. "Where such interference occurs near a city-wide wire system, it is carried all over the city and makes trouble for everybody.

"There is a city in New York state where the street car company has nearly put the radio out of business. The company was losing money for many years, so it spent little on maintenance or new equipment. Then it went into a receivership and expenditures became tighter. Whenever a street car started, it caused a roar on all the radio sets in town. "Quite frequently overhanging trees which touch power lines cause a grounding, especially on wet nights. This is remedied easily by a little trimming of the tree."

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Heinrich Charles—whoever he is—his stationer bears a New York address, but that's the only information concerning him available here—wants congress to recognize officially that "Columbia" is what the world ought to have been called. Many harsh things have been said about Vespucci for tacking his moniker on to a discovery that another man beat him to by a city block.

This view, according to Charles, is a rank injustice to Amerigo—or Amerigo Vespucci, to spell his name as he spelled it himself. Amerigo wasn't to blame, so Charles says.

Charles explains that he dug this story up through his own "original research" and he promises to prove it if congress gives him the chance. It doesn't look as if congress would.

The members of the two education committees aren't entirely uninterested, but their interest is academic. They take the position that congress' business is to legislate and they can't see how that kind of legislation will do Vespucci, or anybody else, any good.

Besides, "historical facts can't be established by law," points out C. Brooks Fry, senate education committee clerk.

Fry admits that some sort of resolution or memorial might be slid into the record, if a congressman can be found who has time to bother with it, but it wouldn't settle a thing.

Short Cuts

Things to Know in Building and Operating a Receiver

Fans operating certain types of tuned radio frequency receivers find oscillations difficult to control. Try a series bypass of from .002 to .005 mfd. between the line connecting the primaries of the two RF coils and the B-battery lines, near the potentiometer, if one is used.

When your set lacks volume inspect the aerial system, the batteries, tubes and loudspeakers magnetism in the order named. Ordinarily you will find the trouble is in the batteries. Always buy "heavy duty" B-batteries, for they cut operation costs as much as 2 cents an hour.

If your loudspeaker sits atop the receiver, be sure to turn its mouth from you when sitting at the set. Some fans make a mistake allowing the speaker to blast the signals right into their ears.

While DX reception still is sought, try bringing an outside aerial lead-in to your loop, winding six turns in and out of the spokes of the loop.

When an indoor pulley-type clothesline is used indoors, you can make an emergency aerial of it.

A decision was made whereby 20 percent of the collections made by the appraisal board for services rendered will be turned over to the realty board.

L. B. Flower Event Will Be Repeated

LAGUNA BEACH, May 22.—The first annual flower show is a matter of history. F. F. Foster and K. T. Wilcox put on the show; that is, they induced people to bring in rare blooms and plants and they filled the exhibition tables with beautiful flowers from their own nurseries.

It is considered that with the good weather which Laguna Beach will soon have, the flower shows here can be made into big drawing cards. ## SAILORS FROM GERMAN SHIP SHOW GUESTS

ANAHEIM, May 22.—Anaheim people who know the German and those who thought, in their school days, that they had learned the language, had an excellent opportunity to put their accomplishments into use yesterday, when 89 members of the crew of the German cruiser Hamburg visited the Orange show.

Few of the visitors spoke even a smattering of English and all were thirsty for information. They wanted to know about how the orange show is supported, how long ago it was established, how it happens that attractive booklets could be distributed free, etc.

In the industrial tent, they were interested in the demonstration device used to show how Ford's are oiled; how much vacuum cleaners cost; where a German minnower on display there was captured and how much different makes of automobiles cost.

All of which put a considerable strain upon the linguistic ability of their hosts.

The sailors came to Anaheim as a part of their social call to Southern California on their trip around the world. In Anaheim, they were special guests of the Concordia club. Their ship now rides at anchor in San Pedro bay, where it will remain until June 1.

According to Lieut. Graf V. Phell U. Klein Elguth, who is in command of the detachment, the Hamburg is a cadet ship employed in training candidates for the German naval academy.

Most of us have known in a general way that Congressman Phil D. Swing has been making a wonderful fight at Washington for the Boulder dam legislation. We have taken pride in his leadership in this, the greatest project that has come before Congress in years. In spite of unfair reports printed by the Los Angeles Times, whose correspondent evidently is acting under instructions to "pan" Congressman Swing in every conceivable way, we have known that Congressman Swing was in the forefront fighting ably and effectively. Anyone who knows Swing knows that that is just where he would be fighting and that is just the way he would be fighting.

Our conclusions in that regard are confirmed by former State Senator William J. Carr of Pasadena, who has been in Washington as a representative of the City of Pasadena working for the Boulder dam. Carr in an interview said:

"Congressman Phil Swing has worked unceasingly against most disheartening tactics. He has been able and resourceful and has steadfastly advanced the bill, and in the meantime has been called upon to attend to a great many other matters, for the reason that he is the only Southern California Congressman in Washington.

"It is lamentable that at this critical stage of the bill for Boulder Dam and the All-American Canal neither of the Congressmen representing Los Angeles city and county is on the job at the capital or doing anything to promote this legislation."

Thus we get a picture of the strenuous job that our Congressman is taking care of in Washington. And we, too, enter our declaration that the absence of Congressmen Lineberger and Fredericks from Washington at this time is lamentable; more, it is neglect of duty.

THAT PLYMOUTH GAME

Not all the interesting British strike news came from London. There was that surprising story from Plymouth where 4000 striking workers, headed by a brass band, marched to a football game. A team made up of strikers played against a team of policemen. Just before the game the latter had had to club a few rowdy strikers who had created a street disturbance, but there was no ill feeling on that account, and when the starter's whistle blew, all was peace and good will.

The two groups, according to one report, became "just a crowd of good fellows who enjoyed a neighborly contest."

Well, that's England for you!

It is a very fine spirit and explains somewhat the orderliness that accompanied the strike. But it leaves one wondering—about humanity in general as well as in England—why people who can be sensible and sportsmanlike in play cannot meet serious mutual problems in the same way. Some of these days it should come about that wars or strikes are not merely won, but prevented, "on the playing fields of Eton," or at least by the same common-sense spirit that prevails there.

AS THE NORTH SEES IT

The Register has been very much interested in watching the reactions that have come on the heels of the announcement by the Automobile Club of Southern California of its highway initiative petition. This initiative measure proposes that highway improvement in California be divided into two big districts for the construction of main highways and into local districts for the construction of lesser highways. It is proposed that state highway funds for the main roads be divided fifty-fifty between the two big districts.

We have found that even Southern California newspapers have not warmed up to the proposal as the Automobile Club might have expected. The San Bernardino Sun, for instance, took a stand against the project on the ground that a main desert highway, on which much inter-state travel is found, is not given the consideration The Sun believes it deserves.

It was not expected by the Automobile Club that the upper part of the state would find the measure acceptable. The Automobile Club representatives, however, expressed the opinion here that the measure could be put over by the solid vote of Southern California. If what the San Francisco Chronicle says about the measure is anything to go by—and we think it is—the northern and central portions of the state will live up to the expectations of the Automobile Club; that is, they will oppose the measure wholeheartedly. Here is what the Chronicle says:

"The Automobile Club of Southern California, opposing an increase in the gasoline tax to build new highways, is out with a warning that it 'will raise taxes.'"

"The southern club is sponsoring an initiative to take out of the state's general fund $5,000,000 a year to build highways.

"Where does the Automobile Club of Southern California imagine that the state gets its general fund? The fund comes out of taxes, and this $5,000,000 would be so much additional. Possibly the club assumes a belief on the part of the people that since the state taxes are paid by the corporations it does not matter how high these are. But in this day the people are getting educated on this point. Ask them. They will tell you that the corporations get their tax money from their customers. And they are right. No matter who hands the money to the tax collector it is the ultimate consumer who furnishes the coin.

"The Chronicle is for the completion of the highways as a state system by any sound and reasonable method of raising the money. It is not necessarily criticizing the Southern California club's plan for raising the money. It does criticize the attempt to make it appear that this plan does not mean taxes.

"But there is far more to the highway initiative sponsored by the Automobile Club of Southern California. It also contains a plan for spending the money. The joker in this plan is that one-half of the $5,000,000 a year AND one-half of all the highway money now being raised by the present gasoline tax and from all other sources would be spent on the roads of thirteen Southern California counties and only a similar amount on the roads of the remaining forty-five counties.

"Ponder this. It is obviously a state plan for raising the money and a strictly Southern California plan for spending it.

"We want a plan for completing the state highways as a state system and not on any local basis."

This editorial from The Chronicle is presented for the information of The Register's readers who are interested, and not as representing our own viewpoint. Our opinion is that the highway initiative will meet with disaster at the polls.

One of Henry Ford's ideals is every farmer getting his day's work done so quickly with a Ford tractor that he can jump into a Ford car and run over and spend his leisure time working in a Ford factory.

Outlook on Mountain Highway

Riverside Press

The long cherished dream of a wider road on easier grades to Mount San Jacinto seems likely to be realized in the near future. Surveys made show that the improvement is entirely feasible. In fact it is easily possible to construct a road to Idyllwild and other mountain resorts in the San Jacinto mountains that can be negotiated more easily and safely than the Arrowhead road to the San Bernardino mountains. The prison road camp will soon be transferred to the mountain road and this move insures actual construction work in harmony with the plans for an easier and better road. Encouragement is moreover given that federal aid may be secured; and the coming session of the legislature will see an effort for state aid.

The San Jacinto mountain is unique among the mountains of Southern California. Visitors find there beautiful trees, verdant meadows, and crystal streams. Those attractions it is true can also be found in the San Bernardino mountains and other resorts, but there are features in the San Jacinto section that cannot be duplicated anywhere else in the country. This mountain rises abruptly from the desert which at its base is below sea level. Those who climb to the summit can look down on the Salton Sea and on an expanse of desert that is unique and awe-inspiring. Experienced mountaineers have repeatedly said that the view from the summit of San Jacinto is one of the most remarkable in the world.

There is a well organized movement not only for a better highway to the mountain from Hemet and San Jacinto, but also a road from the Coachella valley by way of Palm Canyon. That improvement may not be realized for some time, but it is entirely feasible and should be worked out as soon as county funds permit. When that road is built, it will be possible to drive from the Hemet-San Jacinto valley over the mountain range and down into the Coachella valley through the wonderful Palm Canyon. That trip would be one of the most remarkable and spectacular in the country. The improvement of the highways from this side of the mountain should however be given first consideration; and the county can do only a limited amount of work of this character in a year.

Mount San Jacinto is one of the great assets of the county and the development of its possibilities has only begun. The attractions are there—unique, abundant and varied; but their proper use is dependent on good roads. That is the urgent problem that the county faces; and the Press commends the supervisors for their appreciation of the situation and their purpose to work out a program to meet it.

The Outdoor Fire Danger

Redlands Facts

The season of prairie and forest fires has begun. Reports of fires lost and thousands of acres of grass or trees burned over have already begun to come from Minnesota, the Dakotas, Washington, Montana, Idaho and even Massachusetts.

In some instances, too, the fires need never have started. They were the result of human carelessness.

Greater preparation for controlling such fires and greater use of human caution are the chief things needed to lessen this terrible menace to property and life. Dry spells we cannot yet control. Winds will blow in spite of us. But they will do less damage when humans use their wits about setting fires for them to fan to dangerous dimensions.

ERYSIPELAS AND BLOOD POISONING

When erysipelas occurs in parts of the body other than the face, it is usually due to infection being implanted in some wound. This wound may be only a pin scratch or a mere blister.

All wounds in the skin should receive careful attention. Never put dirty fingers into a wound and remember that in speaking of wounds any finger is a dirty finger that has not been thoroughly scrubbed with soap and hot water for at least five minutes.

There are germs all over our hands, and, very often, erysipelas gets all over our hands. Always use sterile gauze on wounds that require a gauze dressing. Never put cotton next to a wound. It will stick and may cause infection. Cotton may be placed over the gauze but never on the wound itself.

Blood poisoning must not be thought the same thing as erysipelas.

Blood poisoning in one case may be quite different from blood poisoning in another. Instead of using the term blood poisoning, you should learn the meaning of the words septicemia, pyemia and toxemia and remember that fever and other constitutional symptoms go with all these conditions. There are quite a number of germs which cause the conditions.

Septicemia is generally used to mean that there are germs in the blood but no local suppuration, no infected wound, no local abscess. If the germ in the blood is not one of the common pus-producing germs, it is often spoken of as bacteremia.

However, a local infection may become septicemia—that is, the germs may enter the blood from a local wound. When this happens, and when abscesses occur in other parts of the body, particularly in the internal organs, the condition is spoken of as pyemia.

Toxemia differs from septicemia in that the germs themselves from a local infection do not enter the blood but the poisons or toxins produced by the germs do, and cause constitutional symptoms such as fever, headache and various other disturbances.

Diphtheria is an example of toxemia. It may rarely become a septicemia or a bacteremia. An infected wound may remain throughout its course a toxemia or it may become a septicemia or a pyemia. All these conditions are loosely called blood poisoning.

Make City Desirable First to Ourselves

Sacramento Bee

Very pleasing and poetic was the tribute paid Sacramento by Irving E. Vining, president of the Oregon Chamber of Commerce, during his brief visit to this city, with particular reference to the beauty of the many trees in her streets and parks.

He dwelt upon "the primitive appeal of trees," still strong in the human heart, remarking that "a race of men who live near trees will have more virility and character."

In that connection he said:

"Cities like ours, that can turn from the seeking of industries and give thought to the planning of parks and beautification, deserve every commendation that human tongue can give them."

That is highly gratifying. It prompts The Bee to add there is no way in which a town or city better can attract home-seekers than to make itself as desirable and satisfactory as possible to its own residents.

And one of the most potent means of so doing is to plant and care for shade trees, especially in the streets and public grounds.

Worth While Verse

OLD HOUSE

It listens, huddled in a clump of trees,
For feet that seek its path no more at all—
Only the winds go in and out, and bees
That have their storehouse in a ruined wall.
Only a vine comes creeping back in Spring
To coax it into fragrant memory—
Sensing how lost and desolate a thing
A house abandoned in old age can be.

More dingy and more shrunken in the sight
Of greening hills and orchards in lit with bloom,
The house peers out between its trees till night
Has blinded it . . . and, in the thickened gloom.
An old vine breathes remembrance on the air
That prowls the rooms and silence drifted stairs.

BADLY CHOSEN WORDS

The charge of wilful extravagance in the expenditure of public funds, made against the supervisors of Los Angeles county, has been answered by the supervisors with the assertion that all such charges are "mere politics."

This reply is very frequently made, nowadays, when charges of wrong doing are preferred, and it is, as a matter of fact, not convincing.

Two greatly overworked words are "politics" and "politician." The primary meaning of the one is "the science of government," and of the other, "one versed or experienced in the science of government." It is apparent, therefore, that charges of corrupt dealing on the part of a public official or officials are in no wise refuted with the counter-charge is made that they are dictated by politics or engineered by politicians.

A PASADENA HEALER — A Pasadena man claims that he has all other practitioners of the healing art lashed to the mast, so to speak, and that he can cure pimples, boils and toothache by a system of rejuvenation given him through divine revelation.

The gentleman hitherto has been a paper hanger, but if his new system of healing is what he claims it to be he will probably forsake the old trade.

His method of treatment consists of digging a ditch in which a fire is lighted. Then the patient is placed in the ditch and covered over with a canvas. The resultant heat, combined with copious drafts of mineral water, effect a cure.

Looks good to us, and anyway it would not seem to be much out of the way to give this paper hanging practitioner his degree of Ph. D. He already has the P. H.

A N OAKLAND PRINCESS

"Princess Beatriz de Ortega Braganza, of Alhambra, Crenada, Spain, scion of four houses of royal blood," and heaven knows what else along nobility lines, made her appearance in Los Angeles a few weeks ago, and the "best people" certainly fell for her to some considerable degree.

The girl was photographed with prominent movie stars, entertained lavishly by Southern California society, and given columns of space in local newspapers.

Then she confessed that she was and is just plain Beatriz de Ortega, of 1259 O'Farrell street, San Francisco, where she was born and reared.

After being feted to the limit as a Spanish princess, she will now try to get a job in the movies.

THEY LOVE A TITLE

They do love and revere a title in that desert Los Angeles! Any old title, even one which is of home manufacture and is a strictly home product, will answer, if nothing better can be had, and it will get its possessor anything and anywhere.

Of course a titled foreigner should look the part, to some extent, at least, and it is especially necessary that he or she should be able to talk good, ie: correct, English.

Anyone passing as a French count, Austrian duke, or the Ahkud of Swat, and making the claim in good English, would at once be regarded with suspicion.

Man's Vocabulary

Kansas City Star

Dr. Frank H. Vizetelly, lexicographer, says Shakespeare used twenty-three thousand words. Lawyers, doctors and ministers today know twenty-five thousand, an editor knows forty thousand and Woodrow Wilson used more than sixty thousand words in three of his books.

In the last 15 years Dr. Vizetelly has had 55,000 words brought to his attention. He does not, of course, claim to remember the meaning of all of them, but it is probable he has a fairly good working vocabulary. The average person knows only 8000 to 10,000, an uneducated one 3000 to 5000 words, and a 6-year-old child, 1000.

The department of psychology of one of our learned bodies recently investigated
